lifty-two men, representing the boards of trade and commercial bodies of sixteen cities of the Central West, this afternoon in the Century Club rooms at the Denison House, and issued a call for a national convention

It was 2:10 o'clock when the roll-call was ordered and J. C. Adams of this city, president of the Board of Trade, the chair city, president of the Board of Trade, took the chair.

President Adams said, in part:

"The Indianapolis Board of Trade, in common with the business interests of this country, believe that the result of the recent election was an earnest protest against the debasement of our monetary system, as well as a positive declaration in favor of a sound, stable and unfluctuating currency. In furtherance of these views, this board issued a call to the boards of trade and commercial bodies of what is known as the Central West, inviting them to send delegates to a preliminary conference, which convenes today.

"This conference will consider the advisability of issuing a more extended call for a larger convention of these commercial bodies of the principal cities to discuss the question of what ought to be done to cure the radical defects in our money system, and if deemed practicable and for the radical defects in our money system, and if fects in our money system, and if deemed practicable and for the best interests of all, to create a non-partisar commission composed of able, experienced and fair-minded business mer duty it shall be to formulate plan which will remove existing weak spots in our present cumbersome and defective system, place the mances of the nation on a sound and adequate basis, and prevent the possibility of fre-quent monetary disturbances.

"Permit me to say, gentlemen, that chind this call, in answer to which you rived when the government must either discontinue the banking business with its expensive and complicated scheme, or go into it on a broader, better-defined and more comprehensive scale. The game is not worth the candle. The burden is too heavy to be safely borne, and no individual, corporation or government can conduct business on a safe and sound basis who has demand notes calling for millions of dollars in existence and circulation, which notes are liable in a period of stringency and panic to be brought to the counter for redemption and when so redeemed, are reissued, thus acting as a standing menace to the government reserve, and a continual threat to the trade and business of the country, causing disturbance and unsettled values of every character.

"The cause of our trouble is not difficult to locate. To determine the best

"The cause of our trouble is not difficult to locate. To determine the best course to pursue and apply remedial legislation that will provide the great nation with sound, uniform and elastic currency, whether it be gold, silver or paper, is the intelligent purpose and paramount question which will claim the best thought and business judgment which you are about to consider the propriety of calling.

"Politicians are proverbially timid, even to the verge of cowardice, but when sentiment is crystallized and given definite shape by the commercial bodies and business men of the nation, it becomes a moral force and recognized power which our law-makers will not ignore or refuse to heed. The attention of the country is centered on this gathering, and well it may be, for no movement of recent years has embodied so much thought, earnestness of purpose and exalted aim, or has given promise to such fruitful results as the action you are about to take."

A permanent organization was effected by the election of ex-Gov. Stannard of Missouri as chairman and Secretary Smith of the Indianapolis Board of Trade as secretary. W. H. H. Miller, ex-Attorney-General of the United States, was then introduced and spoke of the country's condition.

J. R. Wilson of this, city, who was secretary of the National Democratic party, was then introduced and made the principal address of the day. It was an able paper and was warmly ap-

Mr. Wilson outlined the origin of the movement, described the need of currency reform and why the commercial classes should take the lead, stated why the movement was in the right direction, and then, coming to the reason why Congress should welcome such aid, said: "We believe Congress will welcome all intelligent aid in dealing with the reform of the currency. It is unfortunate but true that our national Congress each year exhibits an increasing inability to legislate efficiently concerning such matters. This is not due so much to the want of talent in its membership, but rather to the enormous and constantly increasing routine business, the prevalence of party spirit and domination of party methods, which in legislation, consume time in which in legislation, National Convention is Called for

SENATOR HALE ON TARIFF. WASHINGTON, December 1.—Sena-tor Hale today expressed the opinion that the Senate would take up and, that the Senate would take up and, he hoped, pass the Dingley Bill at the coming session beginning next Monday.

"We ought to have it," he said, "for the treasury reports show the great need of more revenues. While I would not attempt to speak for all of them, I am satisfied that some of the silver Republicans will give their assistance to pass the bill, and I cannot believe the Democrats will put any unusual obstructions in the way of the success of the measure. Furthermore, I am quite persuaded that Mr. Cleveland would not veto the bill if it should be presented to him."

CANNON AND THE TARIFF. WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. - Senat

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.— Senator Cannon of Utah, who was one of the Republican silver men who joined the Democrats last session in defeating the consideration of the Dingley Tariff Bill and who subsequently bolted the St. Louis convention, says that the reasons which induced him to vote against that measure at the last session are accentuated now by the discovery that some of the interests which last session favored its immediate enactment are now opposed to it.

This, he says, is especially true of the wool industry, on the ground that the present enactment of the Dingley Bill would delay the enactment of a satisfactory tariff measure containing adequate protection for the woolgrowers, and in the end might defeat a complete tariff revision on protective lines. He is not inclined to believe that a serious effort will be made to pass the Dingley Bill at this session.

ORY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) NEW YORK, Dec. 1.-Ramon O. Williams, ex-Consul-General of the United States at Havana, arrived at his home in Brooklyn today from a trip to Eng land, France and Spain. He consented to talk for the first time concerning the circumstances of his resignation from office last year, which was sur rounded by such mystery and the sur roundings of which have not been made public before.

There was talk at the time that M Williams and Secretary of State Gresham differed regarding the policy of this government toward America citizens, but Gen. Williams declined discuss that point. He said that his resignation was given because his activity in the cases of American citizens under arrest made him persona non grata to the Spanish government, and made his residence in Havana unpleas

The particular episode in which Mr.

I was a young man employed as clerk in Havana in 1851 when the Crittenden men were shot, regardless of the treaty of 1795. I was a merchant in Havana when the Virginius men were shot in 1873, an almost similar case.

"Again, while I was there, Zeccanea, an Italian-American citizen, who had gone, representing certain Spanish elements, to negotiate terms of peace with the insurgents in the eastern department during the last insurrection in 1878, was arrested by the Spanish forces, tried by court-martial, condemned to death and shot in the Fort Cabanas, where Sanguilly and the Competitor prisoners are now held, regardless of the safeguards of the treaty of 1795, and the safe conduct given to him by the Spanish Minister at Washington. Young Cespedes is accused of being a fillbuster, and, although an American citizen, his friends here fear that he will be condemned to death by the Spaniards and be executed. The cause of Cespedes is similar to that of Ona Melton, a newspaper correspondent who has been confined in the Cabanas Fortress for the last nine months. The Spanish army sweeps everything before it, killing beeves that it cannot use, burning canefields and small stores with their provisions and leaving a wide waste of ruin and desolation in its wake.

People vainly implore Weyler to leave them provisions to keep them alive, but his hrutal officers refuse with oaths and insulting words, if not worse. Over three hundred refugees have come into Mariel since Weyler went out this last time all giving the same story of rapine, plunder and murder by Spaniards.

BY THE TIMES' SPECIAL WIRE

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—(Special Disatch.) The Electrical Review will publish tomorrow an exhaustive communication from Nikola Tesla on his latest experiment with X rays. Tesla states that the sunburn effects noted by many experimenters are not due directly to the rays, but to the ozone generated by the rays in contact with the skin. In referring to the recent ex periment for making the blind see by of the Roentgen rays, he rehopes when there is so little ground for it? For, first of all, the rays are not demonstrated to be transverse vibrations. If they were, we would have to find means for refracting them to make possible the projection of a suf ficiently small image upon the retina.

As it is, only the shadow of a very small object can be projected.

"What possible good can result from the application of these rays to such purposes? I cannot confirm some of the experiments reported. For in stance, when a hand is put before the closed eyes it is easy to distinguish a shadow, much the same as before the light of a candle, but when the tube is nclosed and all light from the same excluded, I fall to get such impression. The latter is, therefore, chiefly due to ordinary light."

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1.—United States Senator George C. Perkins left for Washington this evening in order to be present at the opening of Con-gress next Monday. He wfil not return until the final adjournment of the Senate, and will probably not be present at the State Legislature when the election of a United States Senator to succeed him comes up. His interests will be in the hands of his friends, and at present there seems little doubt that he will be reëlected. He has more than enough votes pledged to elect him, and, in the absence of a formidable op-ponent the race promises to be a walk-

Samuel Shortridge has three votes pledged and his name will be pre-sented, but he is unlikely to gather strength. Thomas V. HANNA AND M'KINLEY CONFER. CLEVELAND (O.,) Dec. 1.—Hon. M. A. Hanna and his wife went to Canton

A. Hanna and his wife went to Canton this morning and returned this evening. The day was quietly spent by Maj. Mr. Hanna will probably go to Washington on Friday, and while there he will confer with Senator Sherman. The approaching departure of Chairman Hanna for Washington has renewed the gossip concerning the Cabinet appointments of President-elect McKinley. It is confidently believed that when he goes to Washington he will bear with him a message from Maj. McKinley offering the position of Secretary of State to Senator Sherman. With respect to the possibility of Senator Sherman accepting the place Col. Allan T. SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1 .- The investigation into the San Benito steam-ship disaster was begun before In-spectors Phillips and Bowles today, but nothing of startling nature was rought to light.

Capt. William Smith was the first witness, but his testimony was not ai heard. Capt. James McIntyre of the steamer Costa Rica was the only other witness. Capt. Smith told how he proeeded down the coast as usual. said that one of his compasses was correct, but that the others were in error very slightly. He went below when everything seemed to be going on all right, and was called immediately before the vessel struck.

His story of the wreck is similar to His story of the wreck is similar t that already published. He said that he believed the casualty was caused by an unusual and unprecedented current running northerly, and partly probably through careless steering, after he went below. He had never noticed more than a trifling current in winter before. He believed that if all men had remained on board the sel, no one would have been ressel, no one would have been drowned.

Capt. McIntyre testified that he knew that there was a very strong northerly set of current in the winter time along the coast, especially after passing Cape Blanco. He had very bad weather coming down last trip, and steered half a point more to seaward. Even then the steamer came out in her regular course, showing that there must have been a strong inshore current.
T. P. Whitelaw, the wrecker, bought what was left of the San Benito for $120 at auction. He also secured the 4000 tons of coal in her for $10.

After prayer by Rev. A. C. Herrick of Sacramento, the convention was organized by the election of William Johnston of Sacramento and D. T. Fowler of Fresno as vice-presidents.

Mayor C. H. Hubbard delivered an address of welcome on behalf of the citizens of Sacramento. This was followed by the address of President Cooper, and it was referred to a committee of prominent fruit-growers. Mr. Cooper said that the next Legislature should do something toward suppressing the tramp evil. "The nuisance," he said, "is steadily increasing." He urged further expenditure in importing lady birds from Australia to destroy the scale pests. He quoted reports to show the annual loss by insect pests in the United States was $300,000,000. At the afternoon's session of the fruit-growers' convention Secretary Delong announced the names of the various committees which had been selected, as follows:

Gen. Chipman of Red Bluff read an essay, his subject being "Should Treeplanting be Encouraged or Discouraged?" Gen. Chipman took the affirmative in his treatment of the subject, and proceeded at once to a critical review of the fruit market, both as to consumption and prices. He advised the planting of diversified fruits, deciduous and citrus.

In the course of his essay he declared that there was little to fear from overproduction. He said that if the same industry was displayed that brewers employ in forcing their product upon the market the fruit consumption could be doubled in a year.

present tariff does not contemplate an import duty on any but the refined product.

The committee will recommend the duty on raisins be raised to 2½ cents per pound, and that legislation affecting raisins shall extend to currants and dried grapes.

Upon the recommendation of a committee from the almond-growers' convention, shelled almonds will be placed in a more secure position from foreign competition by placing a duty of 10 cents per pound upon them, while the unshelled product will carry a rate of 6 cents per pound.

The committee will recommend that English walnuits, shelled and unshelled, be protected by a rate of 3 and 6 cents respectively. After some debate, it was determined to recommend that the tariff on prunes be increased 'to 2½ cents, and figs to 3 cents per cound.

Oranges and lemons are to be protected by a tariff of 20 cents per cubic foot capacity on small packages, the fruit in bulk to be taxed $2.50 per thousand. The committee will further advise that the existing duty on sweetmeats, confections, etc., be raised from 30 cents ad valorem to 40 cents.

It is probable that the convention will adopt the report of the committee, in which event Congress will be memoralized to extend the protection asked for.

san Francisco, Dec. 1.—The agility and presence of mind of Bob Fitzsimmons today prevented the postponement of his fight with Sharkey, and probably saved the life of the lanky puglist.

Bob was out on the road near Sausalito today, taking his final run before the fight. He was being paced by a boy on a bicycle, while Mrs. Fitzsimmons drove a cart behind. Behind Mrs. Fitzsimmons was a four-seated trap drawn by a spirited horse. This animal became frightened and dashed down the road which wound around the hillside. The frightened animal passed Mrs. Fitzsimmons and was almost on top of the puglist before he became alarmed by the clatter.

Bob jumped for his life, and rolled over and over down the hill. The wheels of the trap missed his head by about three inches, but he escaped uninjured. The boy on the bicycle was not so fortunate. Wiley Evans Whipped.

ALBANY (N. Y.,) Dec. I.—Jack Everhardt of New Orleans knocked Billy Ernst of Brooklyn out in the twentieth round of a twenty-round fight here tonight after clever fighting. The fight was preceded by two ten-round contests in one of which Charles Johnson of Philadelphia knocked out Willey Evans of California in two rounds at 145 pounds. In the lightweight class the referee gave the decision to George Siddons in ten rounds from Mcklanus of Albany.

John Eckhardt was referee, and Ever-hardt and Ernst stepped into the ring at 138 pounds. In the first ten rounds, Ernst forced the fighting, and Everhardt let him do it, leading him on.

Ernst planted many blows, but they were not as heavy as those planted by Everhardt, who, when he made a rush, would force Ernst to the ropes. Everhardt played this game through the whole fight. In the thirteenth round he showed his superiority in strength in landing blows where he pleased, and the round was very nearly a knockout.

Everhardt went at his man hammer and tongs when the gong sounded for the last round, and drove him to the ropes with a vicious left-hand swing. Before Ernst could recover, Everhardt landed a left on Ernst which sent him to the floor. He staggered to his feet, and Everhardt was upon him in an instant with a volley of blows that drove him to the floor. Without attempting to count Ernst out, Referee Eckhardt gave the fight to Everhardt.

PARIS, Dec. 1.—(By Atlantic Cable.)
The Chamber of Deputies adopted the Legion of Honor budget. Replying to questions on the subject in the House, M. Boucher, the Minister of Commerce, said he would do his utmost to promote the use of French coal by French steamship companies. The chamber then adopted a motion to appoint a commission to study the means to increase the French mercantile marine.

The Customs Committee adopted a consumption surtax on sugar of f.2½ and raised the registration tax in France to f.1½.

His Former Spouse Pays One Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars' Worth of Notes and Quits-He Kept on,

(BY THE TIMES' SPECIAL WIRE.) NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—(Special Dispatch.) William S. Wood, 55 years old, who was a prosperous and wealthy man, happily married and enjoying a large inherited fortune when he met Mary M. Kellard, eight years ago, was locked up tonight on a charge of forg-ing the name of his wife, Mrs. Vir-ginia Wood of this city, to two prom-issory notes for 10 0000-ginia wood of this city, to two proli-issory notes for $10,000 each.

The story of Wood's downfall is pa-thetic. His infatuation for Miss Kel-lard caused his separation from his wife, and after that his money began to wife, and after that his money began to go rapidly. It is estimated that since his acquaintance with Miss Kellard, he has spent $250,000, much of which was used for expenses incurred by her. During the early years of their friend-ship Miss Kellard purchased $30,000 worth of goods from one firm which he

It was then ascertained that Wood had met her in 1889 and, during the period of his intimacy with her-sit was said he expended in the neighbor-hood of $200,000 on her.

At the time he met her, he held title to fifty-seven pieces of property in this city, and owned large estates in Bed-ford Park. He presented Miss Kellard during his intimacy, a house in West Seventy-fourth street, one in West Seventy-eighth street, one in West Forty-ninth street, and a large tract of land in Bedford Park. She started a home for unfortunate women on the Bedford Park property, and it has been stated that all money she received from Wood went toward paying the ex-penses of her many charities. Wood was at that time accustomed to give Miss Kellard blank drafts or notes, signed by himself or wife, which she would fill out as she needed money.

Mrs. Wood is a woman of considerable wealth, and her alleged signature was sufficient to guarantee the payment of the notes. Wood kept up the practice of forging his wife's signature until she had uncomplainingly paid $150,000 worth of these notes. Mrs. Wood then determined to let him take the consequences of his future note transactions, and the arrest followed.

CABLE COMPANIES

The Postal and Commercial Forming a Closer Alliance.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) NEW YORK, Dec. 1.-The Postal Telegraph-Cable Company and the Commercial Cable Company directors met today and took action in regard to the forming of a closer alliance. The relations of the two companies will not be changed, except that they are to be bound closer in organization by the absorption of Postal stock by the Commercial Cable Company.

The latter will give in exchange for the Postal stock a debenture or collateral-trust bond dollar for dollar, and guarantee 4 per cent. The capital of the Postal Company is $15,000,000 with no bonds. The Commercial Cable pany's capital is $10,000,000, with bonds. This closer alliance is bonds. This closer alliance is to be formed for the purpose of continuity, the perpetuity and cooperative work-ings of those two companies. The stock of each company is held at present by practically the same interests. So that in this respect the new arrangement will make no change.

THE RIVER STILL CHOKING UP

ALL HOPE OF BREAKING THE GORGE IS ABANDONED

Round Hill and Durand Also in Danr - Families Rescued With Much Difficulty-Railroad Tracks Submerged.

CHIPPEWA FALLS (Wis.,) Dec. 1.— The Chippewa River is filled with gorges at many points. At Flambeau farm, the river ran over the banks, destroying 300 head of live stock and ruining a dozen farms. It is feared the course of the river will be changed, throwing it directly on the town and completely inundating it. In event, heavy loss of property and life cannot be averted.

AWAITING THE DELUGE. MILWAUKEE, Dec. 1.—A special to the Evening Wisconsin from Chippewa Falls says the situation at Chippewa Falls is growing more serious every moment. The mammoth ice gorg which formed six miles down the river has backed into the city, and the immense volume of water coming from above is spreading on each side, in-undating large portions of the town. Today every merchant is moving to a place of safety. Water has filled the basements of business blocks for almost the entire length of Bridge street. Be-fore evening it is expected the water fore evening it is expected the water will have reached the courthouse, eight blocks from the river.

There is much excitement, but everything is orderly. About fifty families on the south side, who were forced to move, were reported in want and relief was given them, and some families who had taken refuge in empty houses were without food or warmth. Bridge Superintendent Callinghan of the Central road was instructed to blast out the gorge at the east, but would not undertake it. He said that all the dynamite manufactured could not budge it. It seems all that can be done is to sit down and watch the approach of the flood. The water this morning began to rise at the rate of a foot an hour. It looks as though the entire town would be inundated. Wisconsin Central officials received advices from Chippewa Falls this morning that the water reaches to within three feet of the falls with indications that by evening the gorge will be as high as the falls. According to the reports, no damage has resulted in the city up to the present, but the danger is far from being over.

LATEST FROM THE SCENE. CHIPPEWA FALLS (Wis.,) Dec. 1. This has been a day of excitement and anxiety, and tonight finds the inhabitants of this little village in a state bordering on panic. The worst of the situation is the knowledge of impend-ing danger and of the fact that they utterly helpless to stay or to Those whose houses have flooded have removed much of thei household goods and belongings t higher ground, and are huddled to gether in the schoolhouses and other vacant buildings, out of the path of th torrent that is sweeping down severa main streets. All hope of breaking the gorge and thus allowing the pent-up waters to gradually subside is now abandoned. All efforts today were directed to removing household goods and merchandise out of the reach of the flood. Every team in the city has been en-gaged in this work. Every residence and business firm on River street have moved out.

The Chippewa Lumber and Boom The Chippewa Lumber and Boom Company's mill and yard are under water, and all hope has vanished of saving the entire business portion of the place from being submerged, and the water will soon reach the courthouse, eight blocks from the river.

A report from Little Falls was brought in this morning that another gorge was formed thirty miles above here, and this greatly added to the alarm, as in case it should break, nothing could save the city from being alarm, as in case it should break, nothing could save the city from being swept away. Reports of a very serious nature come from down the river. The country everywhere is flooded.

nature come from down the river. The country everywhere is flooded.

The gorge continues to grow in extent. It is now over five miles long, and in many places thirty to fifty feet high. It completely dams the river, and this is what is causing the rapid rise of the river here. The heavy rains of last week were followed by a sudden freeze, which suddenly massed the floating ice in the Chippewa, but the swiftly-running current added to it, until it reached its present gigantic proportions. Below here the Chippewa is falling. There is no flood at Eau Claire, but this fact is causing the people at that place much uneasiness, as it indicates that the water is being piled up as by a dam above them. The toe pack at Badger Mills, half way between Eau Claire and Chippewa Falls, is growing in extent, and everything seems to indicate that the river is choking up.

LATER:—The business portion of Chippewa Falls is abandoned tonight, and the flood may sweep away many of the buildings without damaging hardly a dollar's worth of merchandise and other valuable goods that were stored there until today. Business men decided not to take chances with the flood that threatened to sweep their possessions from them, and at an early hour today began the removal of their stock.

At 6 o'clock tonight every business possessions from them, and at an early stock.

At 6 o'clock tonight every business house on Spring street and Bridge street, from the river to Center street, is deserted, and the contents of buildings have been stored in unoccupied structures in remote portions of the city where the floods cannot reach, unless the entire city is overwhelmed and swept away. The Chippewa River shows no signs of abatement. It rose four feet today, and at 9 o'clock this evening the water is rising at the rate of two inches an hour. The postoffice is under three feet of water, and Postmaster McCall has moved the office seven blocks from its old location.

At Chippewa Falls the river is fully three-quarters of a mile wide, and its surface is covered with an inch of ice. The most stubborn resistance offered by the obstruction is in that portion of the river between the wagon bridge and the Central Railroad bridge, about half a mile in length. Today Mayor Lindley ordered an explosion of 500 pounds of dynamite, but after 300 pounds had been exploded the experiment was abandoned as a failure.

Railroad officials who viewed the gorge stated that there is not sufficient dynamite obtainable to blast a channel for the river through the frozen mass of logs and ice. The river has risen slowly up to 9 o'clock tonight.

farmers' families who escaped to the railway track from the rising water were rescued by trainmen and an engine. The great ice gorge three miles from Eau Claire is causing an inundation of Chippewa Falls, but is protecting Eau Claire and Durand. It extends for miles, and cannot be broken. Unless it should give way, no great damage is looked for here.

CHICAGO, Dec. i—Tidings of the calamity threatening the villages and towns of Chippewa River Valley in Wisconsin were confirmed by the passengers and crews of incoming trains today. According to them the city of Eau Chaire is in the shadow of a big ice gorge which threatens to give way at any moment and precipitate floods on the inhabitants of the valley. Express Messenger Arthur says the central point of danger is Eau Claire. He continues: "The express agent whom I relieved at Chippewa Falls told me a great ice gorge nearly fifty feet high and five miles long has formed near the lower portion of Eau Claire. This barricade of ice is forming a reservoir of water which is packed with lumber, driftwood and great floes. The only thing which keeps the flood back is the ice gorge. When that gives way, something awful will happen. Families are moving away, carrying household goods to higher land. Four feet of water covers the Wisconsin Central tracks. The water is rising six inches water covers the Wisconsin Central tracks. The water is rising six inches an hour. river has already reached the twentyfoot mark."

The train crews report that an engine and coach sent out to the lowlands below Durand came back with two-score of men, women and children on board who were driven from their homes by the flood, and were found nearly dead from exposure and cold.
The engineer said he could not finish the trip on account of rising water.
Burlington bridge at Chippewa is reported impassible. Reed's Landing, above Almavis, is said to be totally covered with water and traffic is effectually stopped.

Railway officials have received information that the Chicago, Burlington and Northern road is also seriously handicapped by the ice gorge and rising floods. The passengers on the Wisconsin Central train which arrived from the north at noon report that the water is already five feet deep in the streets of Chippewa Falls and that dynamite is being used in an endeavor to break the gorge.

TRACKS UNDER WATER.
WAUSAU (Wis.,) Dec. 1.—The flood in the Wisconsin River continues. At Granite Heights, ten miles north of here, the Chicago, Milwaukee and St.
Paul tracks are about half a foot under water for about half a mile. This water is thinly sheeted with ice, not strong enough for the transfer, and yet enough to seriously impede any attempt to clear the track. No part of the track is yet washed out, but it is not considered safe to attempt to run through the water.

DURAND'S PERIL. MILWAUKEE (Wis.,) Dec. 1.—A special to the Wisconsin from Durand, Wis., says the ice gorge which began at West Newton on the Mississippi and gradually extended up the Chip-pewa Valley Friday, has reached Round Hill, three miles below Durand. The nearness of the gorge has forced the water at that point higher than at any time during the flood, although the water is slightly falling. The eighteen miles of the Chippewa below Round Hill is one field of packed ice, and the bottom lands over which the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul tracks run is completely submerged. At Round Hill, the river is flanked by bluffs which make the gorge there dangerous to Durand. All through the bottoms of the west side the river is a mile wide, and this causes the water to rise slowly. As far as known, no lives have been lost, but those living on the Chippewa bottoms have been rescued with difficulty. Several families on the Buffalo-county side were driven from their homes at 2 o'clock Sunday morning by the forming of a gorge at Plum Island. Scantily dressed, they waded through the water and ice to a high point on the Tailroad from which they were rescued by a relief train from this place. Several of the party were badly frozen. Others have escaped on the ice pack after it formed around their homes. Stock of all kinds has perished, and buildings have been greatly damaged, although the growing timber has protected them largely from the grinding ice. Durand has not had a mall service since Friday.

He said: "It is my firm conviction that Sunday drunkenness has increased very much under the new law. This has caused great distress and poverty. ITALY'S COLONIAL POLICY. The Premier Has Asked for a Vote of Confidence. (BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

ROME, Dec. 1.—(By Atlantic Cable.) The discussion of the colonial policy of the government was resumed in the Chamber of Deputies today. Signor Imbriani, the Socialist leader, approved of the treaty of peace with Abyssinia, and urged that the African colony be abandoned. The Marquis di Rudini continuing said that the government was of the same opinion as in 1891, that Erythrea constituted a permanent danger to the country and that, therefore, it should be gradually transformed from a milcountry and that, therefore, it should be gradually transformed from a military to a civil locality. He did not think it possible to reduce its extent. With regard to the future, the Premier went on to say, it was not a moment to take irrevocable decisions. The Parliament ought to take resolutions compatible with the real interest of the country, which would never be a great power while it was engaged in colonial enterprises beyond its resources.

Other speakers criticised the remarks of the Marquis di Rudini, whereupon he asked for a vote of confidence.

For the Inauguration

(Chicago Record:) Gen. Sickles writes a friend in Washington that he is arranging to raise an army of 10,000 war veterans to escort Comrade Mc-Kinley from the Capitol to the White House after the inauguration. He proposes to have the veterans of the war come from all over the country, organized under their regiments so far as possible, and wearing their old army uniforms.

MUSTAPHA KAMEL RIDES ROUGH-SHOD OVER BRITISH OCCUPANCY.

Party Says Egyptians Are Onto England's Little Game—It Means

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—The Herald this morning published the following correspondence from Constantinople under date of November 11: "At a moment when the Egyptian question is in a semi-effervescent state and may possibly be the next to agi-tate the world, the visit here of Mus-tapha Kamel, head of the Egyptian National Patriotic Party, is not without significance. One of his objects in coming here is to dispel any idea that the Khedive is not entirely loyal to the Sultan. As regards the felling existing among the Egyptians them-selves—and he represents the rising generation-he said:

'Egyptians, without exception, are discontented with the British occupation. They know that England today is striving to blind Europe and the en-tire world that she may place her hand over the entire valley of the Nile. The over the entire valley of the Nile. The former confidence in the word of the English no longer exists. The English occupation has taught that in politics there is neither morality nor honor. "But why should the Egyptians seek to get rid of the British rule? They are prosperous and well-governed under it." "We Egyptians wish to be rid of are prosperous and well-governed under it."

"'We Egyptians wish to be rid of the British rule,' said Mustapha Kamel, 'firstly, because it is our duty as a nation full of vitality. knowing its rights toward itself and even toward the Holy Fatherland. Next, because the British occupation ruins Egyptians morally and materially."

"'Will you tell me what is Egypt's attitude toward Turkey?"

"'The policy counselled by the Egyptian patriots to the whole of Egypt is to bind herself to Turkey and to strenghten those bonds more than ever. History tells us to follow no other policy. If the English are in Egypt today, it is owing to the division and antagonism which existed b fore the occupation by the Sultan and Khedive Tewfik Pasha. The English are at present using all their efforts to divide the Sultan and Khedive, but we are sure that the wisdom and patriotism of the Khedive will fortify him in the policy of represents with Turkey werein the wisdom and patriotism of the Khedive will fortify him in the policy ement with Turkey of rapproch rests his welfare and that of

Can you explain the sudden cause of the English expedition to Dongola?"
"Mustapha Kamel certainly gave a new idea about England's move.
"'For a long time past,' he said, 'the English have looked yearningly toward the Soudan. They wish to grasp that inexhaustible source of riches. They are aware that the master of the Sou-dan is the master of Egypt, and that if the European powers managed to make England evacuate Egypt, the free as Egypt does, would become an Eng-lish province. In that direction they have worked for long years. "'When they saw in 1891, that France

"When they saw in 1891, that France and Russia were preparing for an entente and could give the Negus of Abyssinia officers and arms in order to push him toward the Soudan, the English pushed Italy toward Abyssinia to prevent the advance of the Negus into the Soudan. Their game succeeded remarkably well, and Italy, being thrown upon Abyssinia, did but serve the plans of England with her blood and her money. Ever skillful, the English, under a pretext of saving the Italians, profited by their disasters to undertake the Dongola expedition, with the assent of the triple alliance. Today, to complete the comedy, England asks Italy to give her back Kassala. Thus it is that England has mocked entire Europe without Europe forcing them to leave our dear fatherland."

'AMONG THOSE PRESENT."

KANSAS MULE'S COUSIN KICKS AT HIS OWN CANDIDACY.

Peculiarities of a Populist Frenk Who Pervades Local Politics and Infests the Newspaper Offices of the City.

Protected from the glare of publicity of Councilman from the Eighth Ward, rumor has it-is a person whos relationship to, or identity with, the Kansas mule, is attested by his possession, in common with that animal. of the one accomplishment of kicking; not high kicking, but just ordinary promiscuous and purposeless agitation of the hind legs and aimless elevation of the heels.

This obscure kicker, who seems to be a party named E. Huckerson or Hutchenson, kicks because The Times de-clined to lift him out of obscurity by enson, kicks because The Times declined to lift him out of obscurity by printing numerous reports of the doings of people with whom he has tribal relations, said reports being written by himself and containing, in a large scrawl, his own name in the list of "those present." The fellow's cacographic activity was accounted for by his puerile vanity to see his name in print, and he was perniciously persistent in trying to smuggle it into. The Times, until he was finally told that his presence about the office was offensive. Being unable to break into the columns of any reputable paper with his stuff, the Hutchson person does his kicking in the Hurld. He even kicks against his own candidacy and says the people of Los Angeles are not making any "idiotic search" for "a past master in the art of bombast and platitudinous drivel."

In the days when the "silver wigwam" disfigured the landscape on South Broadway, and the Bryanites congregated there numerously, this party by the name of Hutchingson was also to be found on the scene, according to the testimony of the policeman on the beat, who claims to know Huntchingsome of old.

There were many and various sorts of characters who infested the neighborhood of the "wigwam," but according to the policeman aforesaid, none approached the Hutchings man for foolish sayings, idiotic quips and insane arguments. Early and late, in season and out, from daylight till dusk, the motley crew of Pops, anarchists, socialists, jawsmiths, chinning icham-aforesaid, as this man Huntchingsome, or Hutchersonning.

When the election returns arrived telling the story of Bryan's defeat, the tribes of the wigwam thought of the fun that this man Hutchinsin had afforded, with his patented duplex double-spring, back-action mouth, and thinking of this were consoled. If all other solace were denled them, two things at least remained to be claimed as salvage from the general wreck. Peter Jackson, the well-known local negro, had not forsaken the party, and Suchathing's mouth was still intact.

and Suchathing's mouth was still intact.

The general public, intelligent and well informed, lacks complete knowledge of all that lies concealed in Hutchingtin's hide, but around the newspaper offices of the city Hutcher's Son is known and loved for his willingness to work. No labor so menial, no task so disagreeable but Hutchorbust will cheerfully undertake it. But this only on one condition. He will not work gratis. One thing always must be forthcoming, as a reward for his work in washing the rollers, building the fire, lending money to the office boy or wading about in the mud to report a festive gathering of tramps.

And what is it that must always be forthcoming? Only this: El Hutch must be noted as being "among those present."

When Miss Eliza Tompkins externing her friends at tea and invites a dozen folks to drink the liquid, 'tis Hutchandsun's delight to hie him to the place, secure admittance by alleging connection with the Hurruld, write

The Drama of the Vatican.

(Chicago Chronicle:) The announcement, though strange, is true. Pope Leo has hitherto allowed no theatrical representations to be given within the walls of the Vatican. He has, however, lately made one exception. The historic Swiss guards from the canton of Valais, who, in their yellow and crimson uniforms, are on sentinel and escort duty within the palace, suffer, it seems, from homesickness and ennul. To these human weaknesses the Pope has made the concession of allowing short amateur pieces with orchestral accompaniment to be acted during the coming winter. The entertainments are to take place in the small private The Drama of the Vatican. place in the small private within the Belvedere gardens The performance is to consist of harp and violin music, monologues and short pieces in French. Silverware. THE HAVILAND, South Broadway. WHERE THANKSGIVING BEGAN

The Pilgrim Fathers Brought It from Leyden, Holland.

(Philadelphia Inquirer:) Although the celebration of Thanksgiving an America began with the Pilgrim fathers in New England, the idea was taken from the Dutch, for such a day was established in Leyden, Holland, October 3, 1575, the first anniversary of the deliverance of that city from a long and terrible siege. In 1608 the Pilgrim or Puritan church, exiled from England, went to Holland and remained there till 1620, when it sent off the Mayflower colony to New England. During their stay in the land of dykes and Dutchmen the exiled English dissenters imbibed Dutch ideas and embraced many customs of Holland, the Thanksgiving feast among the number. Gov. Bradford was the first to issue the proclamation on this side of the water, and his successors followed his example whenever circumstances justified the procedure. The feast in our primitive days was rather a solemn affair, however, and consisted of prayers and hymns of thanksgiving, long drawn out by the elders, "to the intense discomfiture of their children, who manifested worldliness and ungodliness in their eager desire to avail themselves of stomachic rather than spiritual comforts," as a New England historian puts it.

The prayer book of the Episcopal church recommends for Thanksgiving day the first Thursday in November, but the feast thus set apart was a dead letter as far as ecclesiastical celebration of the day was concerned. The Congregational church alone, the worshiping place of the descendants of the Puritans, made Thanksgiving a great holiday, eclipsing even Christmas day among these sturdy children of the Pilgrim fathers. The Pilgrim Fathers Brought Is from Leyden, Holland.

(Philadelphia Press:) A curiosity in churches is a Philadelphia suburban church (colored,) which has a white Episcopal priest in charge. It has eight Episcopal priest in charge. It has eight benches, seating three persons each, and every requisite to the service. A melodeon about three feet high furnishes the music. No bell hangs in the steeple, but a negro boy about 12 years old beats a triangle in front of the church just before service. He is also sexton and receives $1 per month as salary. The church was formerly an election booth, is built of sheet iron, painted gray, with only one window. It is called "Chapel of Saint Faith." It has a small but enthusiastic membership.

Lucky Woman.

(Cincinnati Enquirer) "I do so envy Miss Jasmyn," said the hostess, in that rather high key of voice acquired by one who battles dally with the shrieking of the breeze from Lake Michigan. "Mary does seem rather lucky in her marriages," assented the visitor. "Yes, this is her sixth. But the remarkable thing is that she has kept the same hired girl through all of them."

to believe that a man who aspires to be Mayor of the city of Los Angeles is really so illiterate and uncouth, so incapable of learning the rudiments of English, as M. P. Snyder's literary productions, on file in the City Hall, show him to be. Some have hinted the suspicion that The Times has exaggerated Snyder's illiteracy and taken advantage of an occasional slip of his pen to play jokes upon him. It is almost incredible that a man of ordinary intelligence should conduct business, read newspapers, books or even the circulars, bills and letters that pass through a merchant's hands and remain so elaborately and magand remain so elaborately and mag-nificently ignorant of the mechanism of the language that he speaks. Sugar in Oll Tanks.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—The German oil-tank steamer Wilkommen, which arrived today from Dantzig, bringing shortly after midnight on the 17th a huge meteor shot across the sky from southeast to northwest and plunged hissing into the sea, some distance hissing into the sea, some distance ahead of the Wilkommen. Almost im-mediately afterward a huge sea, like a tidal wave, broke over the steamer's bow and swept aft, luckily doing slight damage.

The bringing of sugar to this point in oil tanks is an experiment which will be watched with interest. This is the first consignment to arrive and on the condition the sugar is when unloaded will depend future shipments.

and remain so elaborately and magnificently ignorant of the mechanism of the language that he speaks. Even a man who learned the alphabet at the age of 30 should be able to spell words in common use without making absurd blunders.

But it is absolutely a fact that M. P. Snyder, candidate for Mayor, spells worse than a six-year-old child. The list of atrociously misspelt words, printed a few days ago in a burlesque on the Snyderian system, was not invented. Every word in the list was taken from Snyder's motions, written by himself and now on file and open to inspection, and the spelling was Snyder's own. Every example of Snyder's own and whenever he has been burlesqued, the reader has been burlesqued, the reader has been purlesqued, the reader has been brought to this step by the number of German nobles mostly officers in the army, who have been seeking heiresses in marriage by means of the army, who have been seeking heiresses in marriage by means of the error of has been garbled or exaggerated in the least.

first is a photographic copy of a motion offered by Snyder which was reproduced in type a few days ago. The date of the motion was given, and somebody, guided by the date, hunted up the paper and attempted to amend Snyder's spelling by scratching the "k" from the word "Publick." The scratching is shown in the fac-simile. The fact that no attempt was made to amend any other misspelled words justifies the suspicion that the phonetic statesman himself did the scratching, as he would be unaware that any other words were cacographic, and probably detected "Publick" by comparing it with a sign in the City Hall.

The second fac-simile is a photographic copy of Snyder's original and famous order on "Joe Mire" for a keg of campaign beer. In this, he even fails to spell his own name correctly.

The third cut is a fac-simile of Councilman Snyder's "ded animall" motion, that was a part of the scheme to delay, for the benefit of Ramish & Marsh, the letting of a scavenger contract. The words underscored were added to Snyder's "mov" by a deputy city clerk, which accounts for their correct spelling and respectable appearance. Hundreds of examples of Snyder's ridiculous productions may be seen by anybody who will take the trouble to search the records. The lapses are not occasional and accidental, but are habitual and characteristic, and prove that the man is an illiterate, ignorant person.

N her attempt to put down the Cuban insurrection Spain has shown her unexpected resources to a surprising extent. In sending men and arms to Cuba she has surpassed the efforts of the French in Madagascar, and the English in any of their colonies. In fact, no nation of modern times has raised and sent abroad the number of troops that Spain has sent across the sea to Cuba. She has armed them with one of the most modern rifles made, and supplied them with an abundance of ammunition, yet with abundance of ammunition, yet with all this force of arms, Spain has falled to dominate an island much less in size than the State of New York.

Almost at the very beginning of the uprising, she sent her greatest general to command her forces, but the insurrection spread from the east over the whole island, and Martinez Campos was forced to admit his failure. However signally Campos failed, he was a man far in advance of his country's civilization, and to this fact may his failure be attributed.

they were chasing them.

Then Maceo invaded the province of Pinar del Rio for the second time, and Weyler built his celebrated trocha to they had invaded. He thought the would get tired of devastating th fruitful country, and then when they a tempted to come out he would them on the trocha and extern them. But they didn't attempt to out, so Weyler announced that they were all starving to death, and issued defeat puts them in a panic, and they loose their heads.

When Gen. Campos finally found himself outgeneraled at Caliseo, if he had come into Havana announcing that he had chased all the rebels from the east into Havana province so that he could get them on a more convenient battlefield, he would undoubtedly have received the praise of the Spanish people, and would not have been called upon to resign. But he told the truth, and he was not powerful enough to change the prevailing characteristic of the nation.

After having an experience of years with Spaniards and carefully watched Weyler's operations ft. the field, I am satisfied that he is not worthy, in any respect, of the position he holds. He does not even possess a good education in our sense of the term. He probably knows that the world is round because he has heard somebody say so. He can write his own language because Spanish is a comparatively easy language to write. As for his being a "butcher," I think that term misapplied. defeat puts them in a panic, and they

I never heard of his fighting a great battle, but I have heard of his sneaking around some village from which all the men had fied, and, after submitting the women to all manner of indignities, turning them over to his soldiers to be tortured and killed.

There are other Spanish assassins, like the infamous Milguizo, for instance, who go about killing the peaceable inhabitants of Cuba through a fixed policy. They look upon these people born in Cuba as their country's enemies and believe that to subdue the island for Spain these people must be killed. But Weyler does not seem to have acted in the last war from any such fixed motives. He simply went about committing unmentionable crimes and there are people in Camagney today who can relate with all the horrible details the diabolical cruelties which this dwarf wearing a Spanish uniform practiced upon their relatives. They are stories which could not appear in print, yet Spain has conferred upon this barbarian all the high honors belonging to an honorable career. No wonder that when Campos heard of his successor's nomination he exclaimed: "Weyler! Why, when he come the very dead will turn in their graves."

Then are we surprised that Weyler, with all the resources of Spain at his command has failed to put down the insurrection.

The conversation in the studio continued, and Avery and Lucas agreed that "La Renseignement" was, indeed, a wonderful canvas. Petit had tried to buy it back, but could not get it. It was thought it would be impossible to get Mayer to sell it, but Avery, authorized by Mr. Vanderbilt, resolved to try. He did not wish to make a trip to Dresden at the time, so he wrote to Mayer that a friend of his wanted the picture, but not as a matter of business. It was not to buy to sell again. The banker replied that he had often been importuned to sell the picture, but had invariably refused; yet, now that he felt himself growing old (he had then reached the age of 80,) and that as after his death his family might not care to keep it, he would take a certain price for it. He added that he might change his mind over night, for he found it hard to decide to sell. Avery lost no time in telegraphing, and the next day received the canvas by parcels post; the marvelous picture was actually in his room at the hote! SNYDER'S INCOMPETENCY.

The assurance of M. P. Snyder in ing at Sacramento is likely to prove aspiring to the office of Mayor of Los Angeles is simply astounding. If he were a man of better education and of greater natural ability, he would have less effrontery. Being too ignorant to the time of its inception until its comrealize his own shortcomings, he aspires to the highest office within the gift of the people of Los Angeles with the utmost self-assurance and in serene unconsciousness of the grotesque absurdity of his candidacy.

To those who have read the unique specimens of Mr. Snyder's orthography, chirography, etymology, syntax and prosody, as heretofore presented in THE TIMES, the statement that he is incompetent to discharge the duties of Mayor in a satisfactory manner is or should be superfluous. A man who is unable to write the English language more correctly than M. P. Snyder writes it is not competent to serve the city acceptably in any capacity. He would disgrace even the office of dog-catcher. There are reasons why Mr. Snyder should be defeated which are of far more weight than his bad spelling and defective grammar. These have heretofore been referred to in detail in THE TIMES. But his lack of education alone should be sufficient to insure his permanent retirement to private life. This intelligent and progressive community cannot afford to place in its highest office an ignoramus who cannot write half a dozen consecutive lines correctly. Such a palpable mistake would disgrace the entire community, and would make Los Angeles the laughing-stock of the nation. Vale, Snyder.

NOT FEASIBLE.

The plan for a tariff commission, as advocated by Senator Cullom and others, is impracticable, for the rea son that such a commission would have no authority to impart to its decisions the binding effect of law. Congress is empowered, under the Constitution, to deal with the tariff question, and Congress cannot abdicate its powers nor waive its rights in this matter. Congress is chosen by the people to perform certain duties and to exercise certain powers. It is not vested with authority to shirk those duties, nor to delegate those powers to others.

Even if Congress were to create a he has passed into the august presence tariff commission, the powers of such a body would be merely advisory, not of the Great Architect of the Universe, tion of all questions at issue would still rest with Congress. There is not much likelihood that the action of Congress would be materially affected by the investigations and reports of a tariff commission, even though it were composed of experts. We should still have the same old conflict between the advocates of free trade and those of protection. Inasmuch as Congress must ultimately decide the questions involved, Congress should make all necessary investigations of the subject, in order to reach intelligent and just con-

THE CITY CAMPAIGN.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING IN THE FIRST WARD LAST NIGHT.

Water and Municipal Reform the Live Issues in the City Cam-paign, Freely and Fully Dis-cussed by Julius H. Martin and Other Candidates.

Last night was First Ward night in Last night was First Ward night in the city campaign, and the candidates on the Republican city ticket received a rousing reception on the East Side of the Los Angeles River.

Korbell Hall, in which the meeting was held, was filled to the standing-room limit when Chairman Ling introduced Hon. Julius H. Martin, candidate for Mayor.

Mr. Martin, after thanking the Republican voters of the First Ward for the solid support which they had given him in the city convention, which sup-port had in large measure contributed to his securing-the nomination for the office to which he aspired, gave a brief outline of the reforms which were pledged in the Republican city platform. He favored non-political police, fire and park departments, and promised to continue these important executive departments along safe and economical lines, and to maintain them at the present high standard of efficiency. On the all-important question of municipal ownership and distribution of water, he indorsed not only the platforc of the Republican party, but the plan suggested by the City Central Committee, which provided for free water to be paid for by direct taxation, on the same general plan that the sewer, fire, police and park departments are provided for. In the appointment of the various commissioners provided for by the city charter, only clean, capable men would receive his indorsement. Reform along the lines of a better city government would be his policy, and to that end he urged the election of the straight Republican ticket. pledged in the Republican city plat-

City Treasurer W. A. Hartwell followed Mr. Martin, and gave a brief resume of the detail of the City Treasurer's office. He referred to the fact that he had handled the city cash to the satisfaction of the last grand jury, and had no fear of what might be said of his administration by the jury now in session. If reslected, as he hoped to be on Monday next, he would endeavor to so conduct his office that no fault would be found with his administration at the end of his term of office.

deavor to so conduct his office that no fault would be found with his administration at the end of his term of office.

Judge Ling, in introducing John H. Gish, Tax Collector, called attention to the fact that during the past two years something like $1,500,000 had passed through his hands, and that none had miscarried, but every dollar down to the last penny piece had been turned in to the city treasury. Mr. Gish thanked the chairman and the voters of the First Ward for the kind words said of and the reception given to him, and pledged himself to live up to his record as made during the term of office now drawing to a close. If reflected he would continue the office along the same lines, and if possible, increase its value to the taxpayers.

Charles L. Wilde, candidate for City Clerk, was introduced, and was given a warm reception. He pledged himself to give the taxpayers the benefit of the four years' experience he had gained as chief deputy in the office. He sought the office as a means of demonstrating the value of practical experience gained under so able a chief as City Clerk Luckenbach had proved to be.

John Drain, candidate for Superintendent of Streets, in straightforward, convincing manner outlined the fact that he proposed to bring to the office a practical experience in street maintenance. He favored good wages for good work, and stated that he was not a contractor, with unfinished work to pass upon in the event of his election, neither had he a score or more or relatives to provide places for out of the patromage of the office. Asked by a taxpayer in the audience what he proposed to do for East Los Angeles in the matter of street improvements, Mr. Drain stated that he was not making a campaign of promises, but would feel safe in guaranteeing that when the water company, street railway companies or contractors opened up a street, they would be forced to leave that street in its original condition, or he would know the reason why. The law provided for such cases, and he would enforce the law to the Charles Luckenbach, City Clerk, was introduced on behalf of Will E. Dunn, and for thirty minutes held the undivided attention of the audience. He gave an exhaustive and comprehensive compliation of facts and figures covering the question of municipal ownership of the water plant and the free distribution of water as provided for in the Republican city platform. In closing he reviewed the work of the legal department of the city government, as administered by City Attorney Dunn, whose reëlection he urged to the end that the water question in its legal aspect might be carried to a successful issue by the man who had won every initial step taken in the State and Federal courts. After saying a few kind words for his deputy, Charles L. Wilde, whose election he urged as a measure of economy, he retired in favor of T. E. Nicholls, candidate for City Auditor, who urged the voters of the First Ward to work earnestly for the election of the whole ticket, and as he was on that ticket he hoped that they would not overlook him. He was born in this city thirty-nine years ago, and felt a natural pride in the fact that he had been nominated for so important an office as that of City Auditor. Having had twenty years' experience in practical book-likeeping he felt no hesitancy in saying that he could fill the place to the satisfaction of the taxpayers and general public.

The candidate for member of the City Council, G. W. Stockwell, was then introduced by Judge Ling, who referred to him as the best Councilman the First Ward had ever had, and one whose record on the water question was such as to warrant the undivided support of every voter in East Los Angeles. His record was an open book, with no pages in it that needed labored explanation. Every vote recorded in the minutes during the past two years was clear and on the side of economy and good government.

Mr. Stockwell was given the ovation of the evening, and made a business-like talk on the all-important question of free water and economy in municipal government. He indorsed the Republican rity control of the CITY GOVERNMENT LEAGUE.

General Meeting Will Be Held a the Los Angeles Theater Satur-day Evening-Everybody Invited and a Good Time Promised League Notes.

The Better City Government campaign will be brought to a close with a rousing meeting Saturday night. This conclusion was arrived at by the Campaign Committee yesterday. It was resolved also to make the meeting unique and somewhat different from was resolved also to make the meeting unique and somewhat different from the ordinary political gathering. For that reason the Los Angeles Theater has been engaged for the purpose. It is by no means to be a "swell" or exclusive assemblage. Everybody is invited, ladies and gentlemen, and the laboring man in jeans will be as welcome as the banker or merchant prince in broadcloth. By holding the meeting in the theater, it is simply intended that everybody shall be made comfortable and have, a good time.

The stage, which will be occupied by the chairman, fifty vice-presidents, secretaries, candidates, etc., will be handsomely decorated, John F. Francis and Frank Wiggins having been appointed to superintend the decorations. They will be assisted by a committee of ladies distinguished for good taste in such matters, so it goes without saying that the stage will present an artistic appearance. A committee of prominent citizens will act as ushers.

The programme will consist of five-minute speeches by ten or fifteen good talkers, music by a first-class band, and vocal music under the direction of Prof. C. Modini-Wood. There will be no set or long-winded speeches. All the candidates on the Better City Government ticket will be invited to be present, and some of them will make a few remarks. Other citizens of prominence will speak briefly on the Better City Government movement. W. C. Patterson, president of the Chamber of Commerce, will be chairman of the evening.

The Fourth Ward meeting, heretofore announced to take place in the

The Fourth Ward meeting, hereto The Fourth Ward meeting, heretofore announced to take place in the persons interested having decided to reserve their forces for the general meeting at Pico Heights Friday evening. This meeting will be held in the hall at the Pico Heights Postoffice.

Half a dozen good speakers have been being arranged. The people of the Heights are being thoroughly awakened on the subject of good city government and the rally on Friday evening is expected to be one of the best meetings of the campaign.

No better campaign work is being

No better campaign work is being done in the whole city than by the Better City Government advocates, in the Thirty-second Precinct of the Fourth Ward. A Campaign Committee of fifty, under the leadership of George E. Pratt, chairman, has been organized, and they are not confining their labors to their own precinct either. They have put men to work in every part of the ward, where the Better City Government cause appeared to be languishing for want of proper attention. If Herman Silver is not elected to the Council and Charles

A circular letter, signed by many prominent citizens of all parties, has been addressed to the voters of the Fourth Ward, urging them to vote for Mr. Silver on account of his eminent qualifications for a good Councilman. A letter highly commendatory of Charles Cassat Davis, nominee for Board of Education, is also being circulated.

Board of Education, is also being circulated.

A very enthusiastic meeting of Fourth Ward delegates was held at league headquarters last avening and arrangements made for work at the polis on election day, and canvassing previous to that time.

Prominent citizens of the Ninth Ward also met at league headquarters last evening and made arrangements for a public meeting Friday evening, in a hall to be hereafter announced.

The league has no more indefatigable worker than C. M. Wells, ex-president of the Chamber of Commerce and vice-president of the Campaign Committee. Mr. Wells, at great peril to his health, which is extremely delicate, is very faithful in his attendance at all the meetings of his committee, and, in the absence of Chairman Waters, makes an excellent presiding officer. His fellow-workers also find his counsel in matters pertaining to the league to be of great value.

BY THE TIMES' SPECIAL WIREL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(Special Dispatch.) The case of the United States vs. the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and others, will probably come up in the Supreme Court of the United States. It involves the title to, and possession of, 700,000 acres opposite the road from Tehachepi Pass, by way of Los Angeles to Yuma on the Colorado River. The railroad company claims the land by virtue of its succession to the rights of the Texas succession to the rights of the Texas Pacific Railroad Company, to which the grant was originally made, and under that claim it has sold parcels of under that claim it has sold parcels of under that claim it has sold parcels of land to about 20,000 purchasers, who are conceded to be bona fide settlers. The government contends that the lands in dispute were granted to the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company and were overlapped by the location of the Texas and Pacific line. In 1888 the grant to the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company and were overlapped by the location of the Texas and Pacific line. In 1888 the grant to the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Pacific Railroad Railr tion of the Texas and Pacific line. In 1886 the grant to the Atlantic and Pacific Company was forfeited for failure to comply with the conditions imposed. The government contends that the Southern Pacific Company, successor to the Texas and Pacific, is a trespasser, and asks that the title of the United States to the lands be quieted, onited States to the lands be quieted, and that the government receive from the railway company $2.50 per acre for all tracts sold to bona fide settlers, whose titles shall also be quieted in them. The Circuit Court and the Court of Appeals both gave judgment for the United States and now the Supreme Court of the United States will pass upon the matter.

SUITS TO BE CONSOLIDATED. SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1.-Judge SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1.—Judge Sanderson decided today in favor of the Southern Pacific Company in its action against W. H. Robinson et al., to compel the prosecution of some three hundred damage cases to be concentrated in one suit. The case grew out of a quarrel between Robinson of Oakland with the railroad over what are termed "stop-over" privileges. When Robinson was refused stop-over rights and ejected from the train he brought suit and recovered the statutory penalty of $200. Immediations and the statutory penalty of $200. SANTA FE RECEIVERSHIP.

SANTA FE RECEIVERSHIP. TOPEKA (Kan.,) Dec. 1.—Judge Thayer, of the United States Circuit

TOPEKA (Kan.) Dec. 1.—Judge
Thayer, of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, arrived here at noon to sit with Federal Judge Foster in the Santa Fe receivership case. It was rather late this afternoon before the case was called, Judge Keeler opening for the plaintiffs.

The case comes up upon the same propositions of law as before, and in their arguments, the attorneys say the same ground will be covered with the exception that the rearguments will perhaps be more exhaustive. The question to be decided is the court's jurisdiction. The questions are based on the plaintiff's motion to remand the case back to the District Court of Jefferson county, which sets forth that the case was improperly removed.
Attorney D. R. Hite briefly explained the contentions of the State and was followed by General Solicitor E. D.
Kenna and Attorney Steery for the Santa Fé. D. R. Hite then closed and Judge Thayer ordered all references and documents to be brought into Dablin Opera Audiences.

(London Chronicle:) Sig. Arditi has personally conducted orchestras all over the world, from Havana to Constantinople, from Chicago to Madrid, but for a hearty, appreciative operatic audience give him Dublin! There the gallery would greet him with shouts of "Viva Victor Emmanuel!" "Where's you wig?" and "How's the Maccaroni?" would sing songs and glees in the entractes, and interrupted Gluglini in the middle of "Ah, si, ben mio" with "Ah, begorra, and Mario's fine singer, but sure we like your singing best, and that's the truth." It was this same gallery which, in the sleep-walking scene of "Macbeth," when the nurse and doctor appear on the stage together, shouted: "Hello, doctor! Well, is it a boy or a girl?"

Remarkable Prediction. Remarkable Prediction.

(New York Tribune:) To some of the newspaper jeers at Congressman Grosvenor's figures the Schenectady Union replies that the way in which his predictions were fulfilled is certainly remarkable. "He came within one," it adds, "of estimating the votes cast for McKinley at St. Louis, and over a month ago he stated that McKinley would have 278 electoral votes; he only missed by one vote." Such a prophet, it insists, is not without honor even in his own country.

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

Not the least distressing though about this air-ship business is the crop of funny "cracks" which the alleged humorists will get off, after the bubble has burst and everyone realizes what the thing is going to have a deal to

San Diego is having more trouble over its new water system. The City Engineer has just completed an examination of the big Morena dam, now in course of construction, and according to his report, it is as full of holes as a seive. The contractor had stuffed gunny sacks into the holes, but the City Engineer seems to think this ingenious device a poor substitute for

It is well enough to brag of what big sums of money have been spent in local building operations, but whenas the Building Superintendent points out in his annual report just pub-lished—such braggery brings a host of mechanics to the city, so that the supply of labor exceeds the demand, wages go down and distress in a measpause and cease to brag in this line. There are at present no more vacant jobs in the city than men to fill them.

These are the days when the voice of the candidate is heard in the land; when he goeth forth into the high-ways of the city, shaketh his neighbor's hand and inquireth with care as to the health of his mother-in-law and the baby; when the would-be deputy fixeth his little deal for a job; whe the succulent two-bit piece maketh merry the heart of the heeler; and when all things point to the holding of an election in the near future or there abouts. Meanwhile all hands are baling hay while the moon shines, and no man knoweth what the end will be.

The hardships of the law's delays are illustrated in the case of Wong Fong, who has just been released after fourteen months' of imprisonment. Fong was guilty of no crime. He was merely suspected of being illegally in this country. He had been engaged in business in Riverside for many years and low-townsmen, American as well as Chinese. Even after the Circuit Court of Appeals had declared that he was entitled to his freedom, he was kept in custody for six weary weeks, merely because the trial judge was too ill to go through the formality of hearing the motion for release in open court. There is a little too much red tape about some of the institutions of this Land of the Free.

A WAITERS' STRIKE.

They Quit Work When the Restaurant Is Crowded.

Eleven waiters in the Royal Bakery, No. 118 South Spring street, struck work yesterday noon and walked out at the hour when the restaurant was at the hour when the restaurant was most crowded with customers. Only four waiters remained at their posts, and some confusion and delay occurred in filling orders. The customers for the most part submitted good naturedly to the inconvenience, seeming to sympathize rather with the proprietor sympathize rather with the proprietor than with the strikers.

One of the men said the reason for the strike was that they were obliged to work too many hours a day, but Bernard Gordon, the proprietor, gives a different account. He said last evening that the trouble grew out of a quarrel last week between one of the ing that the trouble grew out of a quarrel last week between one of the striking waiters and another employé. The latter has been in Mr. Gordon's employ for two years; he has a wife and six children dependent upon him and his work has been satisfactory. His discharge was demanded by the waiters, and when Mr. Gordon refused to accede to their demands, he was told that "he would be sorry for it." No action was taken by the waiters until yesterday, when the restaurant happened to be more than usually crowded. Then they walked out. If they expected sympathy they probably received little from the hungry people whom they left in the lurch.

The places of the strikers were filled within two or three hours, and no interruption to the business of the place occurred.

A SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

How It Called Attention to a Needed

By a serious accident, which occurred on Aliso street last Monday, the atten-tion of the City Council will likely be called to the fact that no ordinance excalled to the fact that no ordinance exists prohibiting the breaking of horses in the public streets. It is apparent that no thought of the necessity of such an ordinance has ever presented itself to the Councilmanic body, and it remains for a citizen, who narrowly escaped death on account of the lack of such a municipal law, to bring the matter up.
At noon on Monday C. B. Cook of No.
322 Cornwall street was driving along Allso street when a horse-breaker named Thomas, colored, suddenly drovehis unruly bronce from a stock yard.
The horse was unmanageable, and Thomas could not prevent the shafts of his cart from penetrating the lungs of Cook's horse, throwing Cook out and causing a general smashup of vehicles, men and horses. Cook was slightly bruised, and his horse died from its injuries. ists prohibiting the breaking of horses in juries.

As Thomas was engaged in breaking the horse in a public street, Mr. Cook endeavored to learn if he had any redress. On visiting the City Attorney he was informed that no ordinance existed regulating the taming of horses, whereupon he suggested the advisability of such an ordinance. The City Attorney will now prepare an ordinance to be presented to the Council.

The sixth annual bazaar of the la-The sixth annual bazaar of the ladies of St. John's Church opened yesterday afternoon in the spacious guild rooms of that church at the corner of Adams and Figueroa street. It is a new experiment to have an "uptown" bazaar, but the gratifying attendance both in the afternoon and evening and the generous patronage given to it the generous patronage given to it assures a success. The large rooms with their capacity for accommodating at least six hundred people, are very tastefully decorated with evergreens, bamboo, smilax and potted plants and the booths show to great advantage ranged on both sides of the main Sunday-school room.

The committee of workers is under the general direction and guidance of Mrs. Henry Bleecker, the president of the Woman's Guild. The Reception Committee consists of Mrs. Bleecker, Mrs. H. B. Strange and Miss E. C. Mc-Cullough. The heads of departments are Mmes. B. W. R. Tayler, J. E. Cowles, O. P. Posey, Lewis Thorne, H. B. Whittemore, J. E. Knewing, C. E. Raze, Albert Crutcher, Milton Hammond and Miss E. M. Lewis.

Mrs. Tayler's booth contains a rich and generous assortment of all sorts of useful and fancy articles, toys, dolls, doylies, etc., suitable for Christmas gifts. The assistants at the booth are Mmes. McClure, O'Reilly, Freeman G. Teed, Ryland and the Misses Rogers. At the booth of Mrs. J. E. Cowles are to be found, beside fancy articles, tamales, hot coffee and tea, sandwiches and other refreshments. This booth occupies the entire space of the Sunday-school library, and is tastefully decorated with smilax, palms, etc. Assisting Mrs. Cowles are Mmes. T. A. Elsen, Sheldon Borden, Burnett, Ferguson, Wilson, Smith, Winder, Walker, the Misses Pennington, Lou Winder, Grace Sargeant and Genevieve Smith. The booth over which Mrs. O. P. Posey presides is artistically and elaborately decorated in delicate colors. Among the many novelties to be found there is Mrs. Van Gleson's "apple table," a new feature which is a drawing card. Mrs. Posey is assisted by Mmes. Van Gleson, Houghton, Gooding, and by the Misses Gooding and Houghton.

Mrs. Lewis Thorne's booth will attract the attention of those who are looking for good bargains, of useful articles. linen bags, children's shoes and resses, besides photographs, dolls, etc. Mrs. Thorne's assistants are Mmes. Schneider. Wartlington, Gregson and Miss McCullough.

St. Faith's Guild, a society of young girls under the direction of Mrs. Albert Crutcher, have transformed the men's choir-room to a fairy bower, with real living flowers, and afford a charming glimpse into fairyland. Among the fairles and other assistants are the Misses Katharine Powell, Meta Grasett. Elizabeth Alexander, Helen Reynolds, Florence Osborne, Loi Narver, Clara Heintz, Clara Alles, Ruth Turner, Moretta Allan, Hazel Givins and Mamie Hughston. A souvenir is given to each patron of the fairy bower.

Last evening a delightful concert was rendered by the choir of St. John's Church to the patrons of the bazaar. The programme was as follows:

Plumbing Inspector of the city of Los Angeles, I have the honor to submit my report for the year 1895-96:

"It is an open question whether or not there is another locality in the world endowed with more nearly perfect drainage and plumbing conditions. The city of Los Angeles is situated at an elevation of about two hundred and fifty feet above sea level, and only about eighten miles from the ocean, thus the natural fall is sufficient to rapidly and effectually carry away the sewage.

"The climatic conditions are such that freezing of pipes and expansion by heat loosening joints is practically unknown. For this reason iron pipes instead of lead can, with equally good results, be used. The sunshine which prevails over three hundred days in the year contributes to the purifying of the atmosphere surrounding these conduits for waste.

conduits for waste.

"The recently constructed outfall sewer which was built at a cost of about $400,000 gives a direct outlet to the ocean of all sewage. The cost of plumbing and sewer connection is so much reduced by the use of iron instead of lead pipes that it is possible for those of the most moderate means to fulfill all the plumbing and sanitary requirements.

"There are in use now about two hun dred and fifty miles of main sewer and nearly one hundred and sixty miles of

HEARING OF THE BARTHOLOMEW ELECTION CONTEST CASE.

The Contestant Had to Amend His Complaint to Conform to the Court's Construction of the Form in Such Cases.

The hearing of the election contest of Grove S. Bartholomew against Madison T. Owens was commenced yesterday in Judge York's court. The one wherein Bartholomew claims that he was fraudulently de-prived of the position of City Justice of Los Angeles, for which office he was the Democratic candidate at the recent election.

The matter proceeded very slowly yesterday and little interest was manifested. There is some doubt as to whether the petition will be allowed. However, should it be granted, it will necessitate a recount of the 18,000 votes cast for city justices.

When the case was called, R. B. Treat, Esq., attorney for the defendant justice, made a motion for dismissal, and attacked the complaint on the ground that it was not specific. He argued that instances of fraud, if any, should have been included in the allegation, for as the complaint stood it was entirely too general, being based simply on information and belief.

William T. Craig, Esq., for the contestant, asserted that in drawing up the complaint the letter of the law had been explicitly followed. He contended that such complaints could only be made on information and belief, as it would be impossible for anybody to tell just how each ballot was cast, without a recount were had, and this was the very objects sought. A Supreme Court decision tending to uphold this view of the case was cited, yet the form of the complaint did not appear satisfactory to Judge York.

Vernon Residents May Soon Have

Park to Improve.

The city of Los Angeles, by W. E. Dunn, City Attorney, has filed suit to quiet title to eight acres of the Central Park tract, bounded by Kysor street, Perry street, Park avenue and Central avenue. An interest is claimed by E. T. Kysor and Clara Kysor, and by E. T. Kysor and Clara Kysor, and they are made defendants to the suit. The land in dispute was dedicated to park purposes, but has never been used. Shortly after the annexation to the city of the district wherein the property is located, Kysor offered to sell the land to the city for $6000. An investigation revealed the fact of the land's dedication for park purposes and the supposed fact that Kysor had no interest whatever in it. City Attorney Dunn made a thorough investigation and asserts that he can easily prove his contention. The residents of Vernon are greatly interested in the outcome of the case, as they wish, if the city is successful in the suit, to at once have the property improved as a park. have the property improved as a park.

On August 1, 1893, his store was destroyed the Chinese quarter of the town. He began rebuilding, but in November, 1893, he was recalled to China by the death of his father. He remained there until May, 1895, when he again came to this country. At San Francisco some objection was made before he was allowed to land. Soon after he reached Riverside he was arrested, cparged with being a laborer and illegality in this country. December 2, 1895, he was sentenced to be deported.

An appeal was taken by his attorneys, Marbie & Phibbs, to the Circuit Court of Appeals. The appeal proved successful, and six weeks ago a mandate was issued to the District Court, directing that Fong be discharged. But, though judicially declared to be entitled to a release, Fong was kept in custody for six long weeks, owing to the illness of Judge Wellborn of the District Court. Until the mandate could be presented in open court, it was practically inoperative. Judge Wellborn was finally able to hold court on Monday, the mandate was presented, and Fong was at last released, after fourteen months of captivity upon a charge that proved groundless.

Wong Fong is well known in Riverside, and is generally respected. He has much influence among his countrymen, and is said to be possessed of considerable property. His case has attracted attention, for he has many friends among the American citizens of Riverside.

TRIAL OF THE FLOGGERS BE-FORE JUSTICE YOUNG.

ecution's Case Peters Out Whe Tested by Evidence Under Oath in Court.

REMAINS OF GRACE MARONEY

NOT THE MANGLED WRECK DE-SCRIBED BY MRS, SUTHERLAND.

Trustee Mitchell's Sympathetic Wit ness Modifies Her Lurid Tale Very Materially—The Tortures of Grace Maroney.

Yesterday saw the beginning of the notorious Whittier whipping case. After much cross-examination the jury was impaneled and the District Attornev began his efforts to show the extent of the brutality practiced in the school. The courtroom was crowded both morning and afternoon and frequent ripples of laughter marked the appre-ciation of the crowd when the verbal ciation of the crowd when the verbal sparring between the attorneys grew particularly spiey.

Grace Maroney herself was the first witness put upon the stand. Far from being "unable to be moved," as confidently predicted by Mrs. Mitchell, it would have been difficult to tell with the naked eye that anything in the way of punishment had ever been visited upon the tough-looking young specimen of humanity upon the witness stand.

specimen of humanity upon the witness stand.

The girl's testimony was modeled upon the lines of Mrs. Sutherland's harrowing story, but the impression evidently made upon the collective mind of the jury was that she had received very much what she deserved. She stated that she was three months over 18, the age at which girls are released from the school in case a home has been found for them. She had been sent to the reform school last January from Nevada City.

As stated in the story formerly printed in The Times, Mrs. Wilson was Princioal, Miss Germain matron and Mrs. Henderson dressmaker at the school when the trouble which led to the present trial took place.

The Maroney girl stated that these three women were the ones that had whipped her after the uprising on November 8. This trouble was passed over with the mild statement that the girls had been stood on guard line Saturday night. Sunday afternoon they were in the library when Grace was taken over to the industrial building and there suffered the infliction of a little wholesome discipline by means of a strap which she saw soaking in a bucket of water as she passed through.

The girl testified that the women laid her down and Mrs. Wilson whipped her with, the strap. She was asked if thirty strokes were laid upon her and replied that she counted seven and then forgot to count any more, by reason of the pain. She said that after the first installment of the whipping within the next twenty-four hours. Grace replied: "I guess not," whereupon she was promptly whipped again.

Upon request of the District Attorney the girl described exactly the po-whereupon she was promptly whipped again.

Upon request of the District Attorney the girl described exactly the position in which she had been placed to receive punishment, illustrating by means of a chair.

After the second whipping, the girl said that she went back to the library. She was there accused of laughing, according to her own story, and was then taken back and flogged again. This time the witness testified that she had been laid out flat, while Miss German sat on her head and Mrs. Henderson held her feet.

Upon cross-examination, the Maroney girl admitted that she had complained to Mrs. Mitchell about the punishment of the strait-jacket. On one occasion she herself had pulled off the strait-jacket, which was put

The witness further testified that The witness further testified that the hands and feet of the culprits were always tied, and that while in the "cell" they were kept on bread and water. Of all these things she had complained to the sympathetic trus-

Much of the same story that has already been published was then gone into, but nothing new had been elicited when the court adjourned at noon. Mrs. Dora A. Sutherland was the first witness called in the afternoon, and testified that she had been employed as nightwatch in the girls' dormitory at Whittier State School and testified that she had been employed as nightwatch in the girls' dormitory at Whittier State School.

She had passed the library late Sunday afternoon and heard a commotion. She was proceeding to tell the same story as heretofore published when Mr. Arthur objected to the introduction of matter irrelevent to the battery, and a lively little tilt ensued between the District Attorney, Mr. Arthur and the witness, who wished to reel off her own story in her own way. Mr. Donnell read some law on the subject, and then another lively dispute followed, in which Mr. Arthur took exception to the District Attorney's idea of law, and cruelly reminded him of the reversal of the Kid Thompson case on account of similar errors.

After a little more tilting, Mrs.

After a little more tilting, Mrs. Sutherland was asked to describe the condition of the girl after the whipping. This she did with gloomy relish,

Mrs. Sutherland was then turned over to the tender mercies of Mr. Arthur, who drew out bit by bit that poor Grace Maroney had slept like a log all Sun-day night after she was whipped. She also got up as usual Monday morning and went about her duties in the kitchen. Monday night the girl was more restless, but did not appear to be seriously inconvenienced Tuesday morning when the witness saw her before leaving the school.

The manner of Mrs. Sutherland's dismissal from service was then gone into, the witness stating that Mr. Coffin had discharged her. She had been persuaded rather against her will into taking the position on account of her known opposition to corporal punishment.

Attorney Arthur and the witness then engaged in a little moral discussion as to the best manner of combining mildness with firmness in the training of the girls in the reform school, but after sundry little orations on Christian gentleness from the witness box to the jury, the debate was choked off by Justice Young.

sundry little orations on Christian gentleness from the witness box to the jury, the debate was choked off by Justice Young.

Upon further examination it was developed that the witness, when ordered to the dormitory by the principal, falled to obey, but remained just outside of the reading-room door, taking notes for future use. Maj. Donnell then produced the "instruments of torture" and flapped them imposingly before the eyes of the jury, but as they had not been formally introduced in evidence they were put away again.

Mrs. E. R. Threlkeld, the present principal of the girls' department, was the next witness. She stated that she had taken her present position on Wednesday, November 11. That same afternoon she saw Grace Maroney, who told her that she had a pain in her side. As Mrs. Threlkeld was exceedingly busy she deferred examining the girl until the next day, when she saw the bruises and bathed them with liniment. Thinking that the injuries might be serious, Mrs. Threlkeld called in the resident physician, Dr. Smith, who advised that the girl be put to bed for a day or so, and rubbed with liniment. Further than this Mrs. Threlkeld knew but little of the workings of the school prior to her own administration. She had received no instructions, written or oral, concerning the method of discipline she herself was to pursue. It had been left entirely to her own discretion to use her best judgment in dealing with refractory girls. As yet corporal punishment has not been found necessary. If it ever came to that Mrs. Threlkeld declared that she would quit.

John E. Coffin, superintendent of the found necessary. If it ever came to that Mrs. Threlkeld declared that she would quit.

John E. Coffin, superintendent of the Whittier State School, was next called to the stand. The records of the Investigation held last summer in the case of Rhoda Webb, and of the consequent resolution of the trustees abrogating corporal punishment were introduced by the District Attorney, and the resolution was read to the jury. This resolution was passed August 19, 1896, and has never been rescinded.

The straps were then shown to Mr. Coffin, who stated that he had never seen either of them. Except from hearsay, he had no knowledge of the corporal punishment inflicted upon Grace Maroney. Quite a discussion ensued when Mr. Coffin was asked if he had authorized the punishment of Grace Maroney to the degree of severity with which it had been carried out. As it was impossible to give a clear answer to this question without going into a detailed explanation which the District Attorney refused to allow, he contented himself with simply stating that he had not.

In cross-examination, Mr. Arthur tented himself with simply stating that he had not.

In cross-examination, Mr. Arthur proceeded to cover this point by asking Mr. Coffin why he had been sent for during that memorable Sunday afternoon, and what instructions had been given to Mrs. Wilson. Mr. Coffin replied with a concise account of the rlot at the school during which the girls had attacked the housekeeper with their scissors, and Mrs. Wilson had applied to him for permission to quell the insurrection. He had authorized her to use whatever means she thought best to restore order.

Dr. H. A. Smith, the physician of the school, was called, and testified to having examined the girl, and found black and blue bruises upon her. He ordered the application of a lotion to the bruises. The flesh was not hot, and showed no sign of inflammation. There were certain discolorations, but that was all. He recommended that she be kept in the hospital, and Mrs. Threlkeld put her to bed.

The girl showed no more than the effects of an ordinary good thrashing, and the doctor's opinion was distinctly that the girl was shamming through much of her apparent agony of body and soul.

Dr. Smith's testimony closed the case and soul.

Dr. Smith's testimony closed the case for the prosecution, and court was adjourned until 9:30 this morning.

The exposure in The Times of the colitical rascality and blackmailing political rascality and blackmalling propensities of Harry Knapp, alias Palmer, the emissary sent down to Santa Monica by the stuffed bosslet of the "Arcade push" to assist the Jones faction in the local election, has excited interest in the career of that typical Lindleyite and elicited from various sources much information concerning him and his intimate connection with the discreputable elements infecting the him and his intimate connection with the disreputable elements infecting the politics of this county.

It appears that after the Santa Monica city election Knapp concluded that it would be a good scheme to start a gambling place in the town under the protection of the men whose ends he had been serving during the campaign. He broached the subject to some of the city officials, saying that he had the backing of three of the Trustees and would not be interfered with in his operations.

SCHOOL TEACHERS.

TOPICS DISCUSSED YESTERDAY IN GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Dr. Mara L. Pratt Talks to the Peda gogues About Physical Condi-tions of Children.

SESSIONS OF THE SECTIONS.

SUBJECTS OF GENERAL INTEREST TO TEACHERS.

Results of Physical Training Described by Miss Jacobs of the Normal School-County Sections at Work.

The second general session of the City Teachers' Institutute was begun resterday morning at 9 o'clock sharp. After roll-call, the School Masters' Octet lent a dash of brisk enthusiasm to the proceedings by some well-exe cuted vocal music.

Dr. Mara L. Pratt, the well-known text-book authoress, and one of the staff of instructors at Cook County College, Chicago, was then introduced and gave an exhaustive address upon the physical well-being and proper develop-the chook, and the large amount of physical well-being and proper development of school children.

Dr. Fratt devel especially upon the feeting that the warm climate of Southern California, and the school, and the large amount of school children.

Dr. Fratt devel especially upon the feeting its ability for mental achievements. She exhorted the teachers to have attended to realize the school and gave an exhaustive address upon the physical well-being and proper development of school children.

Dr. Pratt dwelt especially upon the physical condition of the child as affecting its ability for mental achievements. She exhorted the teachers to have patience with the little ones under their charge, in case they seem dull or sluggish. This seeming mental idleness may be attributable to many causes other than laziness or stupidity. Improper breathing is quite sufficient to render a child sluggish. Bad blood is often directly attributable to imperfect ventilation, or to the habit of mouth breathing, caused by a small growth upon the soft palate. The causes may be very simple, but the result upon the brain is even more marked than upon the physical system. Many instances were cited by the speaker in proof of this, and cases shown in which a timely experiment in changing physical conditions had changed the entire course of a child's mental life. Malnutrition is another potent cause for the lack of mental energy. If a child does not receive proper nourishment, especially in infancy, he may be deficient in brain-power for life. The brain being a most essential part of the body, ample nutrition is necessary for its health and consequent activity. Exactly as in the development of muscular power.

A proper condition of the thyroid glands, which secrete the most important food for the brain tissues, was also urged as absolutely essential to healthy mental activity. Many a child is rated as stupid or obstinate, when the correction of some simple physical ailment would remove the whole trouble. Especially is this the case with altroubles of the eyes. The reflex action of eye-straining is felt all over the body. Epilepsy, bronchitis, asthma, palpitation of the heart, and many peryous disorders are directly traceable alone.

"Some Results of Physical Training" was the title of an address by Sarah J. Jacobs, of the Normal School. Miss Jacobs gave the effect of one year of physical culture upon a class of young girls, first reviewing briefly the history of physical training in American schools.

The average child is normal and well-developed when he begins his school life, but continual bending over a desk is apt to develop a greater or less degree of spinal curvature. The seventh year is usually the beginning of the trouble, which, if unchecked, grows with the growth of the child. Improper seating in school, bad postures in standing, sitting or walking, and malnutrition, are directly responsible for most physical ills attendant upon school life.

most physical ills attendant upon school life.

Miss Jacobs then gave the best means of correcting this condition of things, by proper exercise of the muscles and respiratory organs, illustrating her remarks with a chart which showed the development of her sample class during the year of training, which was described by the speaker. The method employed was the Swedish system or gymnastics, very little apparatus being used either in school or home exercise. Changes in height, weight, lung capacity and total strength were carefully noted, showing a steady gain under the system of physical training employed. In citing individual cases, only one was found to be unsatisfactory. This was a girl who had been used to a tree, outdoor life in the country, and who pined away under the close confinement of the school, and the large amount of mental work which was undertaken.

In relation to the prevailing belief that the work well in the country of the school of the prevailing belief that the work well was undertaken.

the school, and the large amount of mental work which was undertaken. In relation to the prevailing belief that the warm climate of Southern California is enervating, and disinctines the student to either physical or mental exertion, Miss Jacobs read statistics which proved quite the contrary, as Los Angeles school girls were shown to compare favorably in all tests and measurements with the students at Oberlin and Wellesley colleges.

Intermission was then declared, and the usual shrill hum of innumerable feminine voices instantly broke forth, to continue for fifteen minutes, while everybody shifted position and rested from the long strain of attention so wearlsome to many of the tired, nervous women.

Another song by the Schoolmasters' Octet was next in order, and the eight pedagogues warbled "Simple Simon Met a Pleman" with due appreciation of that mournful tale of vanished funds and unattainable pastry. An encore was responded to with a sentimental ditty, and then the regular programme proceeded with "Moral Education in the Public Schools," by E. E. Cates.

Mr. Cates reviewed the progress of gramme was a paper on the "Public Library as an Educational Factor," by Mrs. C. B. Fowler, the librarian. Prof. Foshay announced that, owing to a rush of work, Mrs. Fowler had been unable to prepare the paper, and was not present. In the place of it, he read a letter from Mrs. Fowler to himself, conveying some statistics concerning the character of the books taken from the library for the use of the schools.

Only the best class of fiction is used, and good work is being done by teachers in developing the taste of the children for good literature. Mrs. Fowler expressed the hope that some coming changes in the library management would afford the teachers greater facility in the selection of books for the use of the classes.

A brief discussion upon this subject followed, and then the general session for Tuesday was adjourned.

The first period of this session, section six listened to a paper on "The Use of Music in the Schoolroom," by Mrs. M. E. Gordan. Speaking of "time" in music, she said that regular time is more difficult to acquire than tune, and time is the most desirable, most diffi-

Miss Leora Maris opened the discussion on "Reading and Language," being followed by a number of other teachers.

Charles R. Skinner of New York, president of the National Educational Association, is expected to be present tomorrow.

HIGH SCHOOL SECTION. All the High School teachers, both of the city and country, met together in this section. The work of the cre-noon was along the lines of science teaching, and was begun with a paper on "Biology," by Ernest Hoag of Throop, followed by a talk on the same subject by Mr. Setchel, professor of botany in the State University, and also by Miss Monks of the Los Angeles State Normal, who said that the method they had long been using in the State Normal, that of beginning with the cell and working up to the higher forms, she was now convinced was radically wrong, but that it was better to begin with those forms more more difficult to acquire than tune, and time is the most destrable, most difficult and most essential requisite in music. It must be secured through a feeling for regularly recurring accent guided by a visible pendulum, because the pendulum is infallible.

The section then met with section five and listened to a paper on "Supplementary Geography" by J. F. Chamberlain, after which both sections met with others to hear. Miss Scott's talk on "Brazil."

In section five, the work immediately after lunch was a discussion on the ever-present subject of "Arithmetic," opened by J. B. Millard, followed by others.

County Institute.

The five sections of the County Institute held sessions during the day, for the reading of papers followed by general discussion of the subject matter treated in each case.

In the forenoon section one listened to papers on "Early Geography," by Mrs. C. P. Bradfield. The afternoon was devoted to papers on "Nature by J. W. Linscott, and "Drawing," by Study—First and Second Year." by Mara L. Pratt, and "Vertical Writing," by E. K. Isaacs.

Section two at the morning session heard and discussed Mrs. C. P. Bradfield's paper on "Drawing" and T. H. Kirk's on "Numbers—Third and Fourth Years," In the afternoon E. K. Isaacs read has paper on "Vertical Writing." He was followed by Mara L. Pratt on "Child Study."

OFFICE OF THE TIMES. Los Angeles, Dec. 1, 1896.
AFRICA'S GOLD. Advices from Lonon a short time ago told of some trong speculative efforts that were bemade on the Stock Exchange to "bear" some of the more prominent African gold-mining stocks, the efforts of the "bears" being more particularly directed against the Lady Hampton directed against the Lady Hampton mine. The good reports, however, received in London for last month (October) split up the bear movement, and African mining stocks on the London market are again receiving more attention than they have for many months.

Cable advices give the gold output of the Rand district for October, 199,899 ounces, or 7237 ounces more than for the corresponding month of last year. The production of the district for the ten months ended October 31, 1896, is reported at 1,874,244 ounces, as against 1,913,603 ounces for the corresponding period of last year. Unless there is an unexpected falling off reported for November and December, the total gold product of the Rand district will be but little short of that of last year, which was valued at $47,000,000. The yield for the ten months of the present year is a received of the reported. was valued at $47,000,000. The yield for the ten months of the present year is a remarkable one, when it is remembered how much the Jameson raid and other military troubles interfered with gold mining in that district. Enough is already known to make it clear that the South African mines will furnish nearly one-fourth of the world's gold supply for the present year.

RUSSIA ON A GOLD BASIS. Ottoman Haupt, writing in the London Financial Times, says that the resumption of specie payments in Russia is dready an accomplished fact. He says already an accomplished fact. He says the St. Petersburg banks pay one-quarter in gold, but the State bank gives all the gold the payee wants. The amount of coinage for the year has been fixed for the time being at 100,000,000 rubles in gold and 25,000,000 in sliver, the policy of the government being, as stated, to fix the amount of both kinds of coinage according to what seems to be the demand for them, and not in accordance with any abstract theory. Mr. Haupt adds:

"The way in which the Russian cur-"The way in which the Russian currency reform has been carried out is simply wonderful, and does great credit to a country in which even a fraction of a premium on gold has never been established since the day never been established since the day when the rate of conversion of the old paper ruble into the new gold ruble was decreed. The difference between Rus-sia and Austria in this respect is strik-ing. In the latter country not a single new piece of the crown currency is yet seen in circulation, and the premium on gold we have seen rising to 5 per cent.

COMMERCIAL. WOOL PROSPECTS. The San Francisco Chronicle in an article on the present condition of the wool market and prospects speaks wisely and to the and prospects speaks wisely and to the point when it says that it would be a mistake to look for any marked revival of the wool trade at this time or at any time during the continuance of the Gorman-Wilson law." A few woolen mills," it says, "which had been closed were reopened after November 3" in the expectation of a larger demand for the product, but the expectation was not justified by anything likely to happen. In the first place there was stock enough on hand to meet a heavy demand for domestic woolens, and, in the second place, ever since it became known that the party of protection would control the Presidency and Congress after the 4th of March, foreign manufacturers have been rushing their goods into the country. This has been done far in excess of the demand, with the result that the general stock of woolens has been vastly increased and is bound to have further expansion. "The turn of wool will come when a Republican Congress changes the tariff. It would be highly gratifying if something could be done for the industry at the coming session, though it must not be forgotten that Cleveland is in the way of protective laws. He might, however, permit wool to leave the free list as a means of carrying out the revenue only doctrine to which he stands committed. If so, well and good. If not, the wool growers can rest upon out of office, and that the way will then be clear to give wool fair treatment."

COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS. Some idea of the size of the army of "drum mers" may be had from the fact that mers' may be not from the fact that their yearly expenses amount to about $300,000,000. It has also been computed that their salaries and commissions amount to about $450,000,000 expenses. By this it is seen that $750,000,000 represents the sum paid out to the commercial travelers of this country in a single year, while at the same time the sum furnishes some idea of the immense volume of business they transact for the firms they represent.

FIRE UNDERWRITERS. The last

FIRE UNDERWRITERS. The last issue of the Los Angeles Investor contains a report of the organization of the Los Angeles Board of Fire Underwriters, of which the following were elected officers: R. G. Lunt, president; J. T. Griffith, vice-president; R. B. Stephens, secretary; J. W. Montgomery, treasurer. The Executive Committee is composed of Messrs. Dalton Wheeler, M. T. Whitaker and Warren Campbell. George H. Habel, formerly with the Pacific Insurance Union, was appointed surveyor. Referring to this new board and the work it has in view, the Investor says:

"The organization has been fully perfected and a constitution adopted. The main point of agreement among the agents that will interest the public is that insurance rates will be established, so that an end will be put to the absurd and unbusinessifice practices that have so long prevailed here. The new rates agreed upon afford, practically, a reduction of 40 per cent. from those in force less than three years ago, and are 25 per cent. Iess than the special rates of April, 1895. The members of the board are bound to their agreement by no money deposit, forfeit or other penalty for a pecuniary kind. The engagement is upon honor and the penalty for breaking it is expulsion from the board. A committee was appointed to issue a call and make arrangements for the formation of a Southern California district association on the foregoing basis."

BY ARSOCIATED PRINS WIRE.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1—Today's stock market was strong and the volume of business showed a substantial increase over Monday's operations. The dealings were no less proficient than for some time past. The explanation for 'the day's upward movement was that three leading bears, having yesterday discovered that their following was inconveniently large, commenced covering today. The result was a steady rise in prices upon an improved distribution of business. The ostensible causes early were alleged to be of a sudden belief upon the part of the bears that there was not much to be expected from the President's reference to the Cuban question in his forthcoming message to Congress to help break the stock market. The publication of Thoman's report on the statistical position of winter wheat, showing an increased acreage and improvement in condition over previous estimates, also exerted a favorable influence. An encouraging feature, in addition, was moderate buying of the internationals by the arbitrage houses, although the early London prices for American securities had shown declines from New York closing figures. The railway stocks, as a group, were more active than the industrials and the only important totals recorded in the lastmentioned out-ranking the entire market in extent of trading. The bears make a used in the control of the proper of the synthesis of the proper of the proper London Financial Market.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—The Evening Post's London financial cablegram says that except for a few foreign stocks, the stock markets were inanimate. Brokers despair of a revival in business before January 1. Today's fall in consols was merely the dividend deducted from the price. The market had arrived at a kind of deadlock, awaiting indications of opening of either a bull or a bear campaign. Americans were dull. Louisville and St. Paul were firm, however, and street prices were good. The Paris Bourse was good. The settlement is going smoothly, so far. London Financial Market.

WILLIAM LEMON NARROWLY ES

Caught His Foot in a Frog While Coupling Cars-The Heinous Sin of Dancing - A Colored Man Charged With Assault to Kill.

PASADENA, Dec. 1 .- (Regular Cor revival meetings under the auspices of the W.C.T.U. was held this afternoon at the Methodist Church, Mrs. Snell Hall being the speaker. Mrs. Hall spoke of the power of Christ's love to illumine the dark places of life. She gave a touching instance of a converwhich she had witnessed, and stated that a young woman she had known was addicted to the sin of danc-ing. Mrs. Hall said that she had a grown daughter, but that she would rather hear the sods rattle over her lid than see her in a ballroom but she refrained from advising the young lady in question, who at last, however, saw the evil of her ways through conversion to the light, and made a confession of faith. The meeting was attended by about a hundred ladies, and there will be similar meet-ings all the rest of this week.

LEMON WAS SQUEEZED. William Lemon had a narrow escape from death Monday night in the yards at the Southern Pacific depot. About 8 o'clock, as he was preparing to couple a freight car to the outgoing train, by the light of a lantern, he caught his foot in a frog in the track. At the time of the accident the cars were only about four feet apart, and finding it impossible to extricate his foot, Lemon, with rare presence of mind, threw himself flat on the track in such a manner that the approaching coach passed over his body without doing him any further injury than crushing the flesh from the outer side and heel of his foot. The first touch of the front wheels ripped the shoe, and Lemon was able to draw it out of its perlious place. His cries were heard by the engineer and the cars were stopped. Lemon was in the wreck at Shorb Station last winter and escaped injury by jumping from the train.

ASSAULT WITH INTENT TO KILL. William Lemon had a narrow escape

ASSAULT WITH INTENT TO KILL. James Ivisson, a colored coachman was arrested this evening by Constable John Slater, upon the complaint of John Poe, a colored man living on John Poe, a colored man living on Pasadena avenue, who charges Ivisson with assault with intent to kill. Ivisson says that from time to time of late rumors have come to him that Poe was talking disrespectfully of Mrs. Ivisson, and that he at last determined to make an investigation. Accompanied by his wife he sought Poe's dweiling and called him out. He faced Poe with the stories which were attributed to him, and asked him what he meant by such stories. He states that Poe made a movement toward his hip pocket, and, thinking that he had a weapon concealed about his person, he struck him across the head with his cane, felling him to the ground. He asserts that Poe prides himself upon being a "bad man," and that since he is not a "bad man," and that since he is not a "bad man," in the he made no threats and struck Poe in self-defense. Poe's skull is said to be somewhat cracked by the blow, but this does not seem to be considered a serious injury.

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 1.—(Regular Correspondence.) M. J. C. Galvin of San José, a passenger by the steamer Santa Rosa, which arrived at Port Los. Angeles early this morning, has experienced the perils of the sea. Mr. Galvin's stateroom was shared by a stranger. The vessel was already at the wharf when Galvin awoke this morning. He noticed at once that the stranger had gone. The next and more unpleasant discovery that he ma that his money, amounting to $42, had also disappeared. Galvin hastened on deck only to learn that the stranger, who was evidently the proverbial early bird, had gone ashore as soon as the wharf was reached.

The topography of Monrovia is such that the users on the lower part of the pipe system have a great advantage over those located on higher ground, and at most seasons get the lion's share of the flow. The land slopes both east and west and there has been little regularity in running the water heretofore. The meeting elected Mayor Monroe chairman. Judge Stevens, the attorney for the city, was present and explained the difficulties the Council had experienced in getting a line of equal distribution. He recommended the adoption of a regular schedule to govern the use of water, with meters on which rates could be charged for excessive use. The fact that Monrovia has free water carries with it the difficulty of regulating it properly and when the committee of seven was appointed Saturday night, the meeting was careful to choose some of the heavy kickers and let them

GORED BY A BULL. MRS.

Charles Funk Brought to Santa Ana paving to Begin at Once.

SANTA ANA, Dec. 1 - (Regular Correspondence.) Mrs. Henry Rosemeyer of Bolsa was gored by a bull Monday evening, and she may die from the effects of the wounds inflicted by the cruel horns of the beast. Mrs. Rose-meyer was near her house, in the barnyard, when the infuriated bull saw her lady was on the other side of a wire fence, and she thought she was perfectly safe, but not so. The beast rushed right through the fence, the prickly barbs seeming only to add to his fury. He overtook the woman be-fore she could reach the house and first fury. He overtook the woman before she could reach the house and tossed her into the air. Then, turning, he knocked her down and bruised her terribly with his head and horns. Neighbors heard the screams of the woman and ran to her aid with pitchforks with all possible haste, but they could not reach her until she was almost insensible. They finally sucseeded in driving the vicious beast away with the pitchforks and Mrs. Rosemeyer was carried into the house and a physician summoned. Mr. Rosemeyer was working in a field some distance from the house and did not know of the terrible experience of his wife until one of his neighbors went out to notify him.

Upon examination it was found that Mrs. Rosemeyer was very badly injured. Both her legs, near the body, were frightfully gashed and her side was terribly bruised. Fortunately she had on a corset which prevented the horns of the beast from disemboweling her.

The injured woman is resting easily

Ordinance No. 237, accepting the surrender of a portion of the franchise granted to E. I. Tolle, by ordinance No. 232 of the city of Santa Ana, was read for the second time and passed by the unanimous vote of the board.

Ordinance No. 238, repealing a portion of ordinance No. 128 and reinstating resolution No. 1 in the city of Santa Ana, was read for the first time and referred to the City Attorney.

The board then adjourned to meet Monday evening, December 7, 1896.

CHARGED WITH BURGLARY AND

CHARGED WITH BURGLARY AND Charles Funk was brought to this city today with several grave charges preferred against him. He is the young man who was arrested several days ago by Los Angeles detectives and was found to know more or less about the disappearance of a large amount of odds and ends in this valley the past year.

the past year.

Two charges are made against Funk now, and in all probability these will be followed by a number of others as there seems to be but little doubt that he has been stealing everything he could get his hands on. The charge of hurslay is made acquist him, it being burglary is made against him, it being alleged that he stole twenty-one sacks of walnuts from a man by the name of Krueger of Anaheim. The Ontario Fruit Association at Anaheim had forty Fruit Association at Anaheim had forty sacks of walnuts stolen, and the charge of grand larceny is placed against young Funk for this theft. The young man formerly lived in this city, and his reputation is not considered good. He was arrested here about two years ago on the charge of forgery, but obtained his release through a mere technicality, and after that he soon left the city.

A FAR-REACHING LAWSUIT.

The time of the Superior Court of this county was taken up today in the taking of evidence in the case of the Tustin Fruit Association vs. the Earl Fruit Company. The case was begun in this county over a year ago when the Tustin Fruit Association brought suit against the company to recover an amount alleged to be due on thirty-two carloads of fruit which had been handled by the company and upon which alleged incorrect returns had been made by the said company. The oranges were shipped during the season of 1894 to various parts of the country and when the fruit association became suspicious as to the correctness of the returns, an investigation was begun which resulted in the suit against the company being started. Evidence to-day was introduced on behalf of the plaintiff, E. T. Earl and George A. Whidden being placed on the witness stand. Mr. Earl, in the afternoon, was again in the witness box, on behalf of the defendant and at the time for court to adjourn was still there. The case will be resumed Wednesday morning. There is an array of legal talent on both sides and every inch of the ground is being carefully and thoroughly gone over. The time of the Superior Court of

IMMEDIATE STREET PAVING. IMMEDIATE STREET PAVING.

A representative of the Los Angeles Paving Company was in Santa Ana today and arranged for work to begin on the paving of the center of Fourth street from Main to Spurgeon streets, at once. The material of the company arrived in the city on the evening train from Los Angeles and a force of workmen will be down Wednesday morning to begin the preliminary work. The paving for this center strip of the street has been in litigation for the past year or more, it having been previously occupied by the Santa Ana, Orange and Tustin Street Railroad. That road suspended operations and only recently the property-owners decided to do the paving themselves. The contract was let a few weeks ago to the Los Angeles Paving Company, but work has been deferred until the present time on account of rain.

SANTA BARBARA COUNTY. Fine Town Clock on the Fithian Building.

SANTA BARBARA, Dec. 1.—(Regular Correspondence.) The public school-teachers of this city had hoped to attend the great convention of teachers in Los Angeles this week en masse, but the closing work of the term and teachers' examination will prevent them from carrying out their cherished plan, and only Superintendent C. Y. Roop, the two Sloyd teachers and pos-sibly one or two others will be able to get away. The attendance at school during the past term has been far above the average, and the work as-complished by the different grades has been highly satisfactory to the man-agement and flattering to the teachers. teachers' examination will prevent

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 1.—(Regular Cor-respondence.) Bids for the construc-tion of gun batteries at Ballast Point were opened by government officers at San Francisco yesterday, and the con-tract was awarded to the California Construction Company of San Fran-cisco for $170,000. Army engineer offi-cers estimated the cost of the proposed work at from $175,000 to $200,000. The battery will consist of ten-inch guns on disappearing carriages, and the contract calls for 8634 cubic yards of excavation, 10,386 yards of concrete work and 43,000 pounds of iron work. The test of the emplacement must stand a tension of 56,000 to 62,000 pounds. A torpedo casement is in-cluded in the work at Ballast Point, Four of the big guns will be placed at Four or the big guns win we placed at Ballast Point. A future contract will provide for the establishment of six-teen 12-inch mortars on the Coronado peninsula, about two miles east of the Coronado Hotel; also a big gun battery on Point Loma with a range command-ing the ocean to the westward of that peninsula.

A DIAMOND SWINDLE,

HOW A CLEVER YOUNG MAN BOR

Peculiar Case in Criminal Annals That Time Alone Can Explain. Mrs. Raymond and Broker Shaw Have a Queer Experience.

One of the most peculiar diamond swindles with which the local au-thorities have ever had to deal came to light yesterday. In fact, the District Attorney has not yet been able decide just who is responsible for the affair, nor does he yet know who should be arrested for the crime—if it proves to be a crime.

One thing is certain—the man to whom $300 was loaned on some very valuable diamonds is missing, and as the jewels cannot be found it is pre-sumed they went with him. The story runs thus:

One day last week a well-dressed young man presented himself to Mrs. M. L. Raymond, who, in addition to being the proprietor of the Irving apartment house on South Hill street, occasionally deals in valuables. The young man claimed to have come from Pasadena, where he; was a boarder at the Mitchell house.

He poured a tale of woe into the ear of Mrs. Raymond, which evidently convinced her that she could make something on a deal which he proposed. He was possessed of an elegant diamond stud and a pair of costigant diamond stud and a pair of costigant diamond earrings, which he valued at a far greater sum than he expected to realize upon them. He wanted to borrow $300, he said, and would give the jewels as security. One day last week a well-dressed

CRUSHED UNDER WHEELS.

Everett Gilhousen Killed on the Terminal Railroad.

Everett Gilhousen, a boy 11 years ld, died at the Receiving Hospital soon after 9 o'clock last night from the effects of injuries received earlier in the day at Workman Station on the Terfects of injuries received earlier in the day at Workman Station on the Terminal railroad.

The lad lived just across from the depot. About 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon the train from the beach arrived at the station and Everett went to the depot. The engine of the passenger train was uncoupled and sent on to a siding to switch some gravel cars. Everett ran over to the cars, and as they passed by jumped toward the last but one. He missed the hand rail and fell under the wheels. An agonized cry went-up and the passengers of the passenger train, among them Police Clerk Gridley and Officer Baker of this city, rushed to the scene.

The boy was lying beside the track and when the people bent over him, it was found that both his legs had been badly crushed. The injured boy was still conscious, and to Clerk Gridley, who supported his head while the trainmen bandaged his legs, said: "God save me, I am going to die, and I want to see my mamma and papa."

Tears came to the eyes of those around as it was evident that he had spoken the truth.

as it was evident that he had spoken the truth.

Word was sent to his parents and he was placed in the baggage-car of the train and brought to this city. The news of the accident had been telegraphed ahead, and when the train reached the depot the parrol wagon was in waiting. Everett was placed in it and conveyed to the Receiving Hospital, reaching there about 5:30 o'clock. Drs. Bryant and Hitt and two other physicians made an examination and announced that the boy's injuries would probably prove fatal. He did not lose consciousness and talked to those around him. At 9:30 o'clock the end came. The body was removed to Kregelo & Bresse's, where an inquest will be held today.

Judge Shaw Preaches Practical

Judge Lucien Shaw made an inter-

After defining the word "politics" in its usual broad acceptation, he stated that it was his purpose to treat the ernment and pure politics, but are without definite plans and act without concert.

"To content ourselves with simply denouncing the professional politician's action and the result of it as a 'slate,' a 'combine,' as the work of the 'push,' is weak and puerile and a plain neglect of duty. In war the defense against a mine is a countermine. So in practical politics, as political warfare, the remedy for a slate made by the bad citizens is a slate made by the good citizens. The great want in all this kind of preliminary work is disinterestedness and goodness of purpose. The public will always be quick to follow a leader whom it believes to be actuated by unselfish motives.

"If we would do our duty as citizens, if we would preserve our form of government, if we would carry this nation safely through the perils arising from want, from poverty, from an overcrowded population, from competition in labor, from discontent, from the influx of foreigners unused to self-government, we must study the science of government, we must study the science of government, we must obtain a political education, we must practice the arts of the politician, the good must learn to combine against the bad, and we must become skilled in all the methods of managing political parties."

campaign just passed, the intenty of the old soldiers to the Republican party was the strongest hope of the nation; that in the recent county election the success of the Republican candidates was secured by the Union soldiers' votes, therefore, be it

"Resolved, that in the pending city campaign, we again declare our purpose to stand by the nominees of the party that truly represents loyalty to the flag and country; that only upon the Republican city ticket are representatives of the Union veterans; therefore, be it

"Resolved, that this organization, which is made up entirely of ex-Union soldiers and sailors, pledges itself to use every honorable means within its power to secure the success of the Republican city ticket at the coming election."
